Pomona teachers warned

Schools will remain open, despite threat of strike

POMONA — Pomona schools will be operating Friday despite a predicted walkout of more than 80 per cent of the district teachers, Supt. Robert E. Wentz said today.

Wentz said a memo was sent to all teachers today warning them that the strike is illegal, and a "teacher who goes out on strike breaches his contract with the district." (The action) "would be possisble grounds for dismissal," he said.

"All schools will be open, and every effort to provide a professional staff at each plant will be made," Wentz said, after the president of Associated Pomona Teachers predicted that more than 800 teachers at 29 schools will not report for duty Friday.

The walkout will take place immediately after a teacher strike vote is taken at 7 a.m. Friday at a mass membership meeting in the Ganesha Park Community Building on White Avenue, Judd Ellson, APT president, said.

"Teachers will picket all buildings during the day and then reassemble for a rally and march starting at Pomona City Hall Plaza," he said.

Key issue in the walkout is "refusal by the school board to grant a 12 per cent salary adjustment," he said.

"Our teachers don't want to strike, and we've attempted to settle the dispute through negotiations, but the board will not deal meaningfully with the salary issue."

A meeting of the Certificated Employes Council was scheduled for 4 p.m. today to continue salary negotiations.

Wentz said it is "not true" that the board has refused to meet with teachers. APT "has not used due process of law" to resolve the dispute," he countercharged.

Under negotiation is an 8½ per cent pay increase offer by the district.

Astronauts open wing, extend Skylab mission

Risky spacewalk successful, ends power crisis

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab's two spacewalkers today opened a jammed solar electric generating wing critically needed to end the space station's power crisis and prolong the productive life of America's first space station.

"We got the wing out and locked," reported Skylab commander Charles "Pete" Conrad after struggling for more than two hours outside the huge research station.

Mission control reported jubilantly that the glassy solar cells in the 30-foot panel were successfully converting sunlight into electricity.

Conrad and Joseph P. Kerwin reported that smaller panels making up the wing were not fully deployed but were partly folded like a half open accordion.

It was the first time a spaceship was repaired by astronauts in a walk in space. The feat apparently solved Skylab's energy crisis and presumably assured the space station of a long productive life in space.

Conrad and Kerwin began their historic repair job when they emerged from Skylab in darkness. They waited for half an hour for the sun to come up and then bogged down trying to rig a handrail to the damaged solar wing assembly.

Both spacewalkers made it safely back to the forward part of Skylab by 2:15 p.m.

The pilots emerged from their space home in the darkness and coolly assembled a makeshift handrail to guide Conrad to the jammed solar wing.

Then they waited for the sun to rise over the horizon and illuminate the damaged, unlighted portion of the space station. Their initial work area was lighted and once they had their first chores completed, they asked Paul J. Weitz to turn off the lights to save precious electricity.

With the lights out, the astronauts were able to look down and see Western Australia and the Indian Ocean.

"Oh, there's the earth," Conrad said "What part of earth are we over?"

Conrad was told and said he could see city lights, but could not identify the cities. A few minutes later, he concluded he was over Guam.

"Hi there, Guam," he said.

The full success of their 28-day mission, and possibly two 56-day flights for six other astronauts, hinged on the outcome of the historic spacewalk effort to end Skylab's power problem. It was the first walk in space to repair a damaged spaceship.

Conrad, who has walked on the moon and knew the problems of working against a pressurized spacesuit, cautioned Kerwin several times to take it easy and avoid becoming fatigued.

At 12:11 p.m. EDT, the astronauts reported they could see the first dim rays of the sun coming up over the Pacific.

Skylab started out with two of the big solar wings, but one was ripped off during launch May 14. Engineers said the jammed wing, however, could generate 3,000 watts and give the 100-ton ship a total capacity of about 7,000 watts.

Without the wing, the astronauts would have to turn off all their experiments on June 16 when the two fuel cell generators in the docked Apollo will run out of oxygen and hydrogen. That would mean the pilots would accomplish little research during their final six days of flight.

DEBRIS OF FIRE

Firemen battle a spectacular blaze that broke out in the Aylor Roofing Co., Inc., storage yard at 10660 Central Ave. in Montclair, endangering four large oil company storage tanks Wednesday evening. Destroyed in the fire were hundreds of rolls of tar paper and bundles of shake shingles. Firemen said the damage caused by the fire may exceed $10,000. Exact cause of blaze is unknown.

Man with rifle robs city bank of $6,000

POMONA — An armed man who vaulted a counter at the Bank of America branch at 1590 E. Holt Ave. escaped with about $6,000 in cash early Wednesday afternoon.

The man carried either a shotgun or a rifle, according to witnesses. One said he had a carbine with a telescopic sight.

Other details varied among the witnesses, but the consensus was that the bandit was a Negro about 29, 6 feet and thin. He wore sunglasses and a purple knit cap, but other details of his clothing were lacking. He was neatly dressed, most witnesses said.

One employe, Elaine M. Judauga, said she was near a filing cabinet when the man grabbed her from behind by the arm. He shoved her along the aisle of tellers, demanding money, which was placed in a light-blue, cotton sack he furnished. Most of the loot came from the merchants' banking section and was placed in the sack by trainee Jack A. Bloom. After getting the money, the man fled out the south door of the Pomona Valley Center bank.

Witnesses said the man walked through the warehouse area in the south side of the shopping center, carrying the gun beneath his coat. Police believe he may have crossed the railroad tracks there and gone to a car parked on State Street.

About 30 minutes earlier, another lone bandit robbed the Crocker National Bank at 15860 Gale Ave., Hacienda Heights, of about $1,000.

The robber, described as white and about 25, carried a revolver which he showed to teller Dixie Lenahan, when he demanded money. She said he was about 6 feet, weighted 180 pounds and had medium length, curly brown hair. He wore black-rimmed glasses, a blue-long-sleeved shirt and dark trousers.

Kansas City chief named head of FBI

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon disclosed today that Clarence M. Kelley, Kansas City, Mo., police chief, would be nominated as new FBI director, describing him as "the best man in the country" for the top law enforcement position.

The President made the announcement informally in his oval office while posing for photographers with Kelley on one side and Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson on the other.

Nixon told newsmen that Kelley, who served with the FBI for 21 years before becoming Kansas City police chief in 1961, was chosen from a list of 27 prospective candidates.

Richardson commented that Nixon had conducted a "very exhausting" search for the right man.

"The important thing is that while we had 27 names, he was the first choice," Nixon said, patting Kelley on the back.

As the gray haired, bespectacled Kelley beamed, Nixon said: "The attorney general and I and the Cabinet agree that we selected the best man in the country for the position."

Astronauts awed at the sight of hurricane's eye

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 1 astronauts say the first hurricane of the season, continuing to swirl westward across the Pacific Ocean off the Mexican coast today, looks like an "enormous spiral" from their vantage point 272 miles up.

"There's a small, very well defined eye," science-pilot Joseph P. Kerwin said. "It's like an artist's description of a hurricane. It looks like an enormous spiral."

Kerwin said Hurricane Ava, not expected to hit any major land area, obscured everything else seen out of the window of the orbiting space station.

"The eye of the thing is fantastic to look at," commander Charles "Pete" Conrad said as he peered down the center of the churning storm. "You can see blue water in the center and it must have a straight wall of clouds that must go up 30,000 to 35,000 feet on the sides of it."

Justice Dept. won't appeal 'papers' case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department has announced it will not appeal the decision made last month in Los Angeles to dismiss charges against Pentagon Papers defendants Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo.

Cyclist laughs, booked as chase ends in crash

CHINO — An Ontario man might have cried after he flipped his motorcycle here early today to end a high-speed chase with a highway patrol car.

Instead, he kneeled beside his fallen cycle and laughed.

The officer, however, failed to see any humor in the incident. He booked Jack Adams, 22, of 7268 E. Riverside Dr., Ontario, on suspicion of reckless driving.

The chase, which reached speeds up to 125 miles an hour, covered about eight miles. It started on Central Avenue near Howard Street and ended at Riverside Drive and Mountain Avenue when the cycle hit some loose sand and overturned.

Officer G. M. Diaz had started to pull over the motorcycle for having a loud muffler and no taillight. When he speeded up to catch the cycle, Diaz discovered he wasn't gaining.

The officer accelerated to 85 miles an hour, and still the cycle was pulling away. As they neared the Pomona Freeway, Diaz reported the cycle pulled into a left turn pocket, momentarily stopped for a red light, and then pulled into the travel lanes.

The chase continued east on the freeway to Euclid Avenue, south to Riverside Drive, then west to Mountain Avenue.

At that intersection, the driver slowed to go north. He hit the loose dirt, lost control and overturned.

"I observed the subject in a kneeling position and laughing in a loud manner," said Diaz.

At the high speeds reached, officials estimated the eipsode lasted less than five minutes.

Montclair storage yard fire threat to tanks of gasoline

MONTCLAIR — A spectacular fire in a roofing company storage yard here Wednesday evening endangered four large Shell Oil Co. gasoline storage tanks and forced police and firemen to close Central Avenue between Mission and Holt boulevards.

Firemen, called to the Aylor Roofing Co., Inc., materials storage yard about 5:30 p.m. at 10660 Central Ave., fought desperately to contain the blaze that sent flames jumping into the air 50 feet. Heavy black smoke could be seen for miles.

Moments after Chino, Montclair and Ontario fire units arrived, a spot fire started in the oil company storage yard on the east side of the Central Avenue overpass. Firemen quickly doused the spot fire on a storage dock among barrels of gasoline and solvent and began wetting down the larger gasoline storage tanks plagued by floating fire brands.

In another tense moment, police were sent west towards Monte Vista Avenue to flag down a Southern Pacific freight train heading towards the fire. The flames licked across the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks on the north side of the blazing storage yard. Before the fire was brought under control an hour later two Southern Pacific trains had been halted, one hauling empty ore cars and the other undetermined cargo.

The fire apparently started about 5:25 p.m. in the central portion of the storage yard, according to Montclair Fire Inspector Larey Smith. Smith said the fire spread from the center of the yard, where bundles of shake shingles were stored and quickly moved eastward into stacks of roofing paper. Firemen managed to halt the fire just short of a large sheet metal storage building, 75 yards west of the Shell Oil Co. storage tanks.

Smith said before the fire was brought under control 43 firemen were called to the scene, five pumper-tanker trucks, Montclair's aerial snorkle truck, and rescue vehicles.

"Before it was over we had laid 4,450 feet of hose and pumped nearly 500,000 gallons of water on the burning materials," said Smith. "Once we got it controlled we used a skip-loader to break apart the smoking bundles of shake. We finally left the area about 10:30 last night," Smith said.

Smith said the fire was extremely hot because of the type of materials involved, but no firemen were injured.

Smith said they were not certain of the damage caused by the fire in the 75 by 200 foot long storage yard, but it could exceed $10,000. He said they would have a damage estimate only after the employes of the roofing company take a complete inventory. Shake shingles are extremely expersive and becoming rare because of the large demand on wood and wood products, said Smith.

Smith said officials had yet to determine the exact cause of the fire. "It could be just about anything — some one carelessly tossing a cigarette to spontaneous combustion caused by the high temperatures." He said they might have a better idea as to the cause by Friday.

Scared out of his skin

Truck driver snakes way through freeway traffic

CLAREMONT — What do you do when you are driving a truck on the freeway and suddenly spot a snake sitting in the seat next to you?

James Carey Brackney of Riverside pulled his large rig over to the shoulder, jumped out and began waving his arms.

Brackney drew the attention of two highway patrolmen, who stopped to ask what assistance he needed.

"You won't believe this, but there is a snake in my truck," the driver explained.

With a baton in hand, officer Lee Long carefully opened the cab door and coaxed the snake from the seat.

When last seen, the snake was slithering in the grass along the San Bernardino Freeway. Officers believed it to be a gopher snake.

Brackney said he hadn't noticed the three-foot snake when he left Colton earlier. When dawn lighted his cab, however, he looked over to the seat next to him and spotted the snake, which was apparently enjoying the ride.

The driver stopped near Indian Hill Boulevard, a short distance from the California Highway Patrol office.

Body found in reservoir

SAN DIMAS — The body of a young man was found in the swimming area offshore at Puddingstone Reservoir Wednesday evening.

The victim, who had not been identified late this morning, apparently had drowned accidentally, sheriff's deputies said. Homicide detail detectives were trying to learn his identity. The body was taken to Pollock Mortuary, Pomona.

The body was sighted by lifeguard Frank Brown, Pomona, who dove in and retrieved it.

Record 12-month hike

Wholesale food prices in drastic rise again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Farm prices, after showing an unusual decline in April, resumed their sharp upward movement in May, pushing up wholesale food prices since the spring of 1972 by 39 per cent, their biggest 12-month increase on record, the government reported today.

Coupled with another hefty rise in industrial prices, wholesale prices moved up 2.1 per cent in May, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) reported.

Prices of farm products, processed foods and feeds leaped upward by 4.7 per cent in May. Revised figures showed that prices in this category declined 0.7 per cent in April. Excluding processed foods, the May rise was even higher —6.1 per cent.

The sour news for the administration economic stratgists came as President Nixon pondered a new attack on inflation.

Government price controllers, through a variety of stabilization measures, have been struggling to slow the rise in wholesale prices which inevitably percolate in the form of higher retail prices in ensuing months ahead.

Impeachment talk handed setback, but new try due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif., who tried without much success to start a House discussion on impeachment of the President Wednesday, says he will probably try again "in a week or two when things are better understood."

McCloskey reserved an hour at the end of Wednesday's House session "to initiate an exchange of views" on impeachment. But when he was only five minutes into his speech late in the evening he was cut off by a parliamentary move by a fellow Republican.

Meanwhile, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., told 800 graduating cadets at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Wednesday that: "Our President will not resign nor will he be impeached. Our government is too strong."

Goldwater said the presidency is "being attacked" by people trying "not just to get the captain of the ship but to sink the ship as well." But he said, "I am not defending those men who should be attacked."

McCloskey, a lawyer who unsuccessfully challenged Nixon for the GOP presidential nomination in 1972, said he did not want to initiate actual impeachment proceedings in the House without first giving the President a chance to present all the facts about Watergate.

But he said the House has a duty parallel to that of a prosecuting attorney to consider whether the President was guilty of the obstruction of justice or committing a felony.

Under the Constitution the House can vote to bring impeachment charges, which are then heard by the Senate.

Five minutes into McCloskey's speech, Rep. Earl Landgrebe, R-Ind., objected that a quorum of 213 was not present. Only 141 showed up in a quorum call. After some more maneuvering, McCloskey himself said he would not try to resume his speech since it would all appear in the Congressional Record anyway.

"My whole purpose in asking for the hour for the speech was merely to initiate debate on the matter," McCloskey said. "I've accomplished a lot more than I thought I would."

Panel will receive Nixon and Dean logs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Watergate Committee will get the logs giving times and dates of meetings between President Nixon and his former counsel, John W. Dean III, the White House said Wednesday.

Deputy White House press secretary Gerald L. Warren said the logs, which do not detail the subject matter of a series of telephone calls and meetings between Nixon and Dean, would be turned over to committee counsel Samuel Dash as soon as they are "compiled and verified." Warren said that special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox would also be given copies if he requested them.

The logs, according to Warren, would confirm that Nixon and Dean met on "many occasions" during the first few months of the year.

String of washroom robberies

Slaying in Chicago Playboy Club

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police today were seeking a link between the holdup-slaying of an insurance executive in the washroom of the Playboy Towers to other washroom robberies in downtown Chicago during the past month.

David J. Hill, 34, was stripped naked, except for his socks, robbed and shot to death Tuesday night by two gunmen who opened fire after another patron of the Playboy club surprised the robbers in the course of the holdup.

The gunmen escaped with less than $60 in cash and a gold watch, police said.

Hill, of suburban Park Ridge, saw his chance to escape when the fourth man startled the robbers. He dashed down a hallway and up a stairs, his assailants chasing him.

Police said he was shot at least three times. He staggered up the stairway about 50 feet to the lobby bar before collapsing in a pool of blood. The assailants, pursued by two hotel security guards, escaped when one of the gunmen pointed a chrome-plated gun at them.

Homicide Sgt. Clement Belda said a witness, who he refused to identify, walked into the washroom and saw Hill standing nude near the robbers. His clothing and empty billfold lay nearby on the floor.

Belda said the witness told police he ducked into a toilet stall and hid as the chase and shooting started.

Except for the shooting, investigators said the gunmen acted like the same men who committed two robberies in a Loop hotel in which the victims were forced to strip.

Allen Crawford, former FBI agent and now head of the Playboy security, said he didn't believe the hotel could have prevented the robberies, aside from placing permanent guards in the washrooms.

Police described the suspects as both well-dressed blacks.

Nixon-Agnew, et al, linked to ITT antitrust case in company letters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — High-ranking administration officials, including Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, took part in the handling of a much publicized antitrust case against ITT, according to documents released Wednesday.

Letters and memos written by International Telegraph and Telephone Co. executives were made public for the first time by the House commerce investigating subcommittee.

They mention nine administration officials including President Nixon; Agnew; former Attorneys General John Mitchell and Richard G. Kleindienst; former White House aides John Ehrlichman and Charles Colson; former Commerce Secretaries Maurice Stans and Peter G. Petersen; and John Connally, former Treasury Secretary and now a presidential consultant.

A letter to Connally mentioned a 30-day delay agreed to by the Justice Department in an ITT case and said, "we are certain that you and Pete (Petersen) were most instrumental for the delay."

Much of the correspondence deals with the antitrust case revolving around ITT's merger with Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

Agnew was sent a memo, apparently by ITT Vice-President E.J. "Ned" Gerrity, quoting Mitchell and Ehrlichman as telling ITT President Harold S. Geneen that Nixon "was not enforcing a business-bad policy and that the President had instructed the Justice Department along these lines."

The memo was stamped "personal and confidential." On top of it was a brief letter addressed from Gerrity to "Ted" Agnew which said:

"I deeply appreciate your assistance concerning the attached memo. Our problem is to get to John Mitchell the facts concerning (former Deputy Attorney General Richard) McLaren's attitude because, as my memo indicates, McLaren seems to be running all by himself."

McLaren was instrumental in blocking out-of-court resolution of the antitrust case, later settled in ITT's favor after McLaren was named a federal judge.

"After you read this, I would appreciate your reaction on how we should proceed," the letter to Agnew concluded.

Other memos referred to meetings between Mitchell and Geneen, and between Geneen, ITT Vice President William Merriam, Colson and Ehrlichman about McLaren.

The documents also included ITT lobbyist Dita Beard's memo discussing a $400,000 ITT contribution to the Republican National Convention last summer, connecting the offer with negotiations with the Justice Department in the case.

Nixon selects new drug chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Robert L. Dupont, 37, has been selected by President Nixon as director of the White House Special Action Office for Drug Abuse Prevention. Dupont, a graduate of the Harvard Medical School, will succeed Dr. Jerome H. Jaffe, who has held the $42,500-a-year post since the office was created two years ago.

Connally leading new Nixon attack on inflation

By NORMAN KEMPSTER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is considering a new attack on inflation, hoping to find a single act that would control costs at home, defend the dollar abroad and divert public attention from the Watergate scandal.

Announcement of a new economic initiative could come next week.

Administration officials said a number of possible moves are being discussed. Although the officials declined to provide details, it seems certain the President is looking for a dramatic gesture like the wage-price freeze he ordered 22 months ago.

Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, now an unpaid adviser to Nixon, is understood to be the leader of the activist faction which appears to have won the President over to its point of view.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz and Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, are considered the leaders of a faction counseling restraint.

If the President decides to act — as appears likely — he probably will go much further than the ceiling on the prices of beef, pork and veal which he ordered March 29.

Critics of the meat price action contend that it had little noticable effect on the cost of groceries, which are still climbing. The action also appears to have done little to renew public confidence in the administration's capacity to deal with the economy.

White House sources indicated that Connally was the central figure in the behind-the-scenes drama. The former Texas governor has avoided any public comment on his new role as a presidential adviser. Telephone calls from reporters have generally gone unanswered.

But Connally, who recently switched parties from Democratic to Republican, is known to favor strong moves, as much for their psychological and political impact as for their economic value.

A recent Gallup poll showed that inflation ranked much higher than the Watergate affair on the list of matters bothering most people. A wage-price freeze or similar step might restore some of the faith in government which has been eroded by the scandal.

A dramatic move against inflation at home also could be expected to ease the pressure on the dollar in international money markets. European analysts explain that one reason the value of the dollar sank to record lows this week was because money dealers lack confidence in the ability of the scandal-weakened administration to manage the economy.

House okays increase in minimum wage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 2.6 million American workers were virtually assured today of getting their pay raised to $2.20 an hour by July 1, 1974. Only a presidential veto would block the increase.

The pay boost was in a bill passed 287-130 by the House Wednesday to increase the $1.65 an hour minimum wage to the $2.20 level. Backers of the bill said 2,618,000 private sector workers covered by the law earn less than the proposed new minimum.

The measure was sent to the Senate where Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan was scheduled to testify today before a subcommittee which is considering a measure similar to the House passed bill. The Senate is almost certain to approve at least the $2.20 an hour level.

Brennan testified before a House committee on April 10, 1973 proposing an increase to $2.30 an hour but spread over three years. The administration has not sent up a bill to back that proposal but offered no resistance to the House measure, backed by Democrats.

The bill would also raise the $1.30 an hour farm minimum wage to $2.20 over three years and extend protection of the law to 1.5 million household domestic workers and 4.4 million local, state and federal government employes, excluding fire and policemen.

The key vote of the day was rejection of a Republican substitute measure, offered by Rep. John Erlenborn, R-Ill., which would have reached the $2.20 level in two years instead of one, and would have permitted hiring of youths under 18 at less than the minimum wage. The Erlenborn bill was defeated 2-8-199.

A similar Erlenborn substitute was approved by the House a year ago but died in a fight over going to conference with the Senate which had passed a more liberal measure.

The new House measure keeps overtime pay exemptions applying to seasonal and perishable goods workers. Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., succeeded by a 213-203 vote in writing in a prohibition against giving the increased minimum to Panamanians employed by the United States in the Panama Canal Zone.

Murder count filed in Pomona slaying

POMONA — The 16-year-old boy accused of fatally stabbing a 13-year-old boy at Ted Greene Park Tuesday night is being held in Juvenile Hall on a murder charge.

Police today said early reports that the stabbing followed an exchange of words over a bicycle and a brief scuffle have been confirmed by witnesses.

The victim, Randolph Irvan Rudolph, 2183 Ravenswood Way, died in Pomona Valley Community Hospital about an hour after having been stabbed once in the left side. He was taken to the hospital by ambulance after having gone to 2142 Spencer St. for help. He collapsed after entering the residence through the kitchen door.

The suspect maintained that when he asked Randolph what kind of bike he was riding, Randolph became belligerent, shoved him and tripped him before trying to hit him. The victim was stabbed once with a spring-blade knife having a blade three inches long.

TAHNEE GANTT

Ontario girl chosen as Miss OIA

ONTARIO — Chaffey College coed Tahnee Gantt of Ontario was named Miss Ontario International Airport at a coronation luncheon Wednesday in Upland.

She succeeds Maggie Holroyd of Cucamonga, last yer's titlist.

Runner-up in this year's contest was Kathryn Clayton of Cucamonga. Other candidates were Mary Belin, Ontario; Beatrice Belmontes of Upland, and Wendie Shirley of Chino. Candidacy was restricted to freshmen from Chaffey College.

The contest was sponsored by the airport and the college with cooperation from the Upland Chamber of Commerce and Pacific Southwest Airlines.

West End levels up

Smog siege seen

West End residents may anticipate community smog alerts today and Friday and other citizens of the Pomona Valley will suffer moderate eye irritation. All can expect hot weather, with the temperature to be around the 100 mark.

The San Bernardino County Air Pollution Control District reported this morning that the parts per million of pollution is expected to range from .40 to .45 today. Persons living in Alta Loma, Chino, Cucamonga, Montclair, Ontario and Upland can expect a minimum visibilty of two to four miles.

Although the weather forecast says Friday's high will drop to 97 from today's expected 101, the smog level will remain high with heavy eye irritation in the West End. The APCD expects a maximum visibility of two miles on Friday and the likelihood of another community alert with the oxidant level ranging from .35 to .40 parts per million.

The Los Angeles County APCD predicted .30 as the ozone level in Pomona and voiced uncertainty about the possibility of an alert. The oxidant level is close to a warning for valley citizens, however. There will be moderate eye irritation and a visibility of one-half mile due to haze and photochemical aerosols.

Childbirth classes due

COVINA — A new series of classes in prepared childbirth will begin Monday at Inter-Community Hospital.

Phyllis Baer will teach the eight two-hour classes.

Prepared childbirth is a method of preparation for expectant mothers. It provides them with methods of dealing with the discomforts of pregnancy through exercise and good body mechanics.

Husbands are encouraged to attend.

Those desiring further information may call the instructor at 213 338-4675.

Three more win cash in P-B contest

There were two winners Wednesday and one winner Tuesday in the Progress-Bulletin's TV Week Sweepstakes.

Thelma Ketchum of 232 Browing Ave., Pomona, and Otis Quattlebaum of 1158 N. Densmore St., Pomona, picked up $25 each Wednesday.

Gloria Olsen of 2142 Third St., La Verne, won $25 Tuesday.

So far, 113 persons have shared $2,360 in the contest.

Intersection collision kills El Monte man

HACIENDA HEIGHTS — A 20-year-old El Monte man was killed late Wednesday night in a two-car collision at Temple and Sunset avenues.

The victim, Edward V. Moreno, 20, had to be pried from the wreckage of his car by firemen aided by a county fire department paramedic crew. But Moreno was pronounced dead at Queen of the Valley Hospital, West Covina.

The other driver, Willie James, 36, West Covina, was reported in good condition at the same hospital today.

Sheriff's deputies said Moreno was westbound on Temple and James was northbound on Sunset when their cars collided in the intersection just before midnight.

Hospital emergency service is praised

WEST COVINA — Queen of the Valley Hospital is one of 55 hospitals in the Los Angeles basin currently meeting hospital emergency room standards established by the Los Angeles County Heart Association.

This hospital network is the result of a two-year study in which heart volunteers reviewed hospital services, equipment, facilities and training of staff personnel in the latest emergency cardiac care.

Each hospital meeting the standards has been issued a "1973 Emergency Heart Care" sign for posting near the emergency room entrance.

Dr. Morton Lee Pearce, president of the Heart Association, said: "We urge people to look for the sign as a way of learning the location of a hospital emergency room near their home or place of work in case of suspected heart attack."

LVC prof to address Collegiate

CLAREMONT — Dr. Nicholas C. Polos, senior associate professor of history at La Verne College, will be the speaker at the 81st commencement of Claremont Collegiate School Sunday on the school's lawn.

Polos will tell graduates "How to Play the Future-Shock Game — The Only Game in Town."

He was chairman of the department of history at Claremont High School for 12 years.

Last year he was voted teacher of the year at La Verne College.

Diplomas and academic prizes will be presented by the Rev. Edmund W. Fisher, completing his fourth year as headmaster at Claremont Collegiate.

2 Uplanders injured in cycle crash

ONTARIO — A 30-year-old Upland man and his 9-year-old passenger were injured Wednesday afternoon when his motorcycle skidded out of control on Mountain Avenue north of Mission Boulevard, police said.

Charles Richard Riley of 840 E. Olive St., Upland, was listed in good condition with possible leg injuries at San Antonio Community Hospital. His passenger, Raymond Troy Boudreau, 9, also of 840 E. Olive St., was injured but required only first aid treatment at the hospital.

Police said Riley apparently lost control of his motorcycle trying to avoid what he thought was an oil slick on the Mountain Avenue northbound on-ramp.

Man holds up Ontario shop

ONTARIO — Police continued their search today for a man armed with an automatic pistol who robbed the Stop and Go Market at 311 N. Mountain Ave. Wednesday night of a small amount of cash.

The store clerk, Robert Randall, 18, of Fontana, said the robber walked into the store about 11:30 p.m. pulled out the automatic pistol and told him, "hit the floor!" The robber scooped up the money in the cash register and fled.

The robber was described as a Caucasian, about 40, weighing 200 pounds with dark curly hair. He was wearing a yellow short-sleeved shirt and blue jeans, police said.

Taxidermy talk for Kiwanians

CLAREMONT — The art of taxidermy will be explained by John Meier to fellow Kiwanians meeting Thursday noon at Griswold's.

Meier will show slides and display specimens of his hobby.

While in his senior year at Humboldt State College, Meier became interested in taxidermy through his admiration of the work of a friend who was working on a master's degree in the wildlife section.

Surgery may provide normal life

Baby was born with 4 arms, 4 legs

MIAMI (UPI) — Joan and Mike married at 19. She wanted a baby more than anything. First she had a miscarriage. Then, she saw the look on the nurses' faces when Joe was born—with four arms and four legs.

But Joan's and her husband Mike's faith—and the skill of a surgeon in Miami—has given them a 10-month-old boy with fluffy blond hair and four new teeth, who smiles, plays pattycake with his dad and has an excellent chance for a normal life.

The names are not their real names because the parents want nothing to cast a shadow on Joe's life. The case of "Joe," and the work of Dr. Marc Rowe, chief of pediatric surgery at the University of Miami's School of Medicine, came to light in a study published Wednesday by the Miami Herald.

Joe was only the 23rd case of dipygus documented in nearly three centuries. Mike and Joan learned that Rowe, one of the few doctors in the world who could help them, was right in their own city.

The infant was only 21 hours old when the first 5½-hour operation began. Doctors inserted dye in his veins and used Xray to guide the surgeon as he cut off the extra limbs and stitched up the wounds.

Now, Joe faces one more operation to correct a condition in his digestive tract. The parents, now 22, are optimistic about his future.

Joan said she took no drugs nor hormones during her pregnancy. When she entered the delivery room, she told the doctor she wanted to be awake for the child's birth.

"I had a local anesthetic," she said. "I saw him come out when he was born, but he was face down. Then I saw the expression on the nurses' faces." The nurses wrapped Joe in a blanket before they showed him to Joan. A doctor said there were some problems.

Joan learned to accept Joe as he was, even before the surgery. "I am the type who lives one day at a time," she had said.

The couple met at a little fundamentalist church which teaches literal belief in the Bible.

"I feel there's a comfort in faith; it really keeps things together," said Mike, a lay minister.

"I think if we both hadn't had the Lord, things possibly could have gone a lot differently," said Joan.

"It worked out beautifully," Rowe said. "Maybe she has something we all ought to know because she handles it so well."

For the presentation the graduates will be escorted by their fathers and Porto by his mother. Flowers from the junior class will be presented by Jacquie Lombard, Becki Turner, Isabel Talamontes, Penny Joslyn, Steven Gordon and alumna Rebol Johnston.

SPEEDWAY EXPORTED—Berger Nielsen, executive manager, and Helen Palmieri, office manager, Ontario Chamber of Commerce, display Ontario Motor Speedway posters and decals being requested by residents of Poland and Czechoslovakia. Some 80 letters have been received during past three months.

Chamber deluged with requests

OMS fame is far-reaching

By L. T. ROGERS
P-B Staff Writer

ONTARIO — Fame of the Ontario Motor Speedway is spreading across the waters.

During the past three months, the Ontario Chamber of Commerce has received about 80 letters from persons in Poland and Czechoslovakia asking for raceway decals and shoulder patches.

Many of the early requests came from the town of Szczecin, Poland, said Helen Palmieri, office manager. "Recent letters, however, indicate this is spreading to adjoining communities."

Most letters are handwritten, with words obviously copied from English dictionaries. An example: "Dear Sir!! Pease me somo prospectc, labels, catalague and addresses firms. I'am waiting for the letter with you, Ontario. Thank vow very mucch. Your's frient."

Several letters, apparently written together by friends, bore the identical wording: "Dease sena me some prospects and firm mark from thank you very much."

The deluge of letters is believed to stem from a single request mailed last April while the Ontario Motor Speedway was closed. This is indicated by nearly all the letters received since then bearing the same address of "Ontario 500 Festival Association, 517 N. Euclid Ave., Ontario, Calif."

"After we mailed a decal and patch to the first person, other letters started flooding in," said Mrs. Palmieri.

The chamber has been sending back car window decals, which has a big "O" for Ontario. "I did include shoulder patches until I ran out," she added. Some raceway posters have also been sent.

One writer is going to be astonished when decals, patches and posters are personally delivered to his home in Poland.

"We received a letter written in Polish, and a chamber employe took it to a family friend for translation," said Mrs. Palmieri.

"The friend, who plans a summer vacation in Poland, asked if he could take the posters to the boy."

Chamber officials are somwhat puzzled as to how persons living behind the Iron Curtain learned of the local speedway.

"The California 500 is a worldwide race, and the Grand Prix held here in 1971 did attract many European drivers," offered Berger Nielsen, chamber manager.

"They may have read about the speedway in magazines or newspapers."

Officials estimate the cost of sending raceway material to the European countries at about 45 cents a letter.

"We believe the program is one way to spread good will, which is one of our functions," said Nielsen. "It also serves to publicize our community throughout the world."

None of the letters have included return postage. "We have received six letters from persons thanking us for sending the material," noted Mrs. Palmieri.

Other letters sent to the chamber include:

"I am a collector of images prospects and etyketes and labies. Please send me a fow. Thank you very muh.

"My hobby prospects is gathink anleaflet of your firm. Thank you very much. My presend adres. . . .

"I am asking You much to send me prospects, folders or marks You firm. Many, many thanks.

"Dear sir. Odled pon my hobby of automobile unevweg. Unipeg componites my arlung by prospects and me labels fin myon will. Yours Faithfuily.

"Please besco kino and seno to me prospects of ars producent by your firm lim interesting your ans besorve My Father has old ar and I hay a mino know what ars are producent today in your firm."

All-year schools urged by Little Hoover group

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The use of year-round classes in California schools has been endorsed by the state Little Hoover Commission to stretch the education dollar.

In a 60-page report submitted to the legislature and Gov. Ronald Reagan, the commission Wednesday said the growing interest in year-round schools "is a recognition that the extended summer vacation is no longer a sociological or economic requirement and that the school plant can be used to much greater capacity without a proportionate increase in cost."

Eighteen California school districts have or are planning year-round classes at some of their facilities.

The report recommended a uniform, statewide plan on 12-month schools be created and "use of year-round schedules encouraged."

Most common among the various year-round concepts, the report said, is where teachers and students are divided into four groups. During any time of the year, three of the groups are in session while the fourth is on vacation days but there are fenumber of classroom and vacation days blt there are fewer pupils on the campus at any one time.

The group, formally called the Commission on California State Government Organization and Economy, said the study was prompted by concern over limited funding for school construction.

The report also said California districts now own 443 unused school sites, the majority of which are not even planned for use. It recommended the districts be required to dispose of the unneeded property since school enrollments are expected to decline until the end of this decade.

Commission estimates showed enrollment at a peak in 1970, with a steady decline projected until 1978. After that, school enrollment was expected to increase slightly.

Among the commission's other money-saving recommendations was the suggestion that 15 to 25 per cent of all classrooms be "relocatable" to meet temporary enrollment demands at one school and then be moved on to help at another.

Report from America

One-room school is closed---'a sad day'

WHITAKER RANCH, Wyo. (UPI) — Lucille Preston closed the doors at the one room Whitaker School for the last time and sent her four students scurrying down a dusty road to their ranch homes.

The last day of school at Whitaker ended Mrs. Preston's 27-year career as a teacher, parttime mother and playmate to a handful of children attending the country school

"It was kind of a sad day when we closed our school," Mrs. Preston said today. "I guess it's just the passing of something very special."

Dorris Sander, a specialist on rural and migrant affairs in the Wyoming Department of Education, believes that mechanization, urbanization and improved travel conditions are driving the one room schoolhouse into extinction.

She says only 60 one-room schools exist in Wyoming today compared to more than 1,000 during the 1930s.

"It isn't that anybody has closed them," she said. "There just aren't any children any more."

She said farms and ranches had grown and mechanized, replacing the small homesteads that dotted the state and decreasing the rural population. But routes and winter road maintenance have improved, she said, making it possible for rural children to attend school in towns during the winter.

The Whitaker School is a perfect example. The two families that sent children there decided to bus them 30 miles south to Cheyenne in the belief they will be happier with more children and will have a chance at broader education opportunities.

Mrs. Preston doesn't believe it always works out that way.

"I think it's a real advantage to children to be able to go to a rural school and have such small classes," she said. "I've enjoyed it. I've always enjoyed teaching in rural schools. The children always receive a lot of individual instruction.

"I used to play with the children outside and then, when it was cold and wintry, we played card games and so forth in the school room."

Whitaker School was started 20 years ago by a one-child family living on the range. The wooden frame building had running water installed only a few years ago.

The largest enrollment in the history of Whitaker School was five.

Meat label measure no bum steer

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Grocers would be required to clearly identify what portion of a steer was used for various cuts of beef under a bill which has reached the Assembly floor.

On a 10-0 vote, the Assembly Agriculture Committee Wednesday approved the bill (AB1875) by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco.

Foran said many consumers purchase what they believe to be an expensive cut of meat because of an exotic name such as "his and her steaks" when the cut actually comes from a less expensive part of the steer.

The bill would require all cuts of meat to be clearly marked whether they were from the chuck, shank, brisket, rib, shortplate, flank, loin or round.

Solons act to rescue Indian burial ground

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill authorizing an archaeological excavation at the site of a proposed new governor's mansion to remove prehistoric Indian relics has advanced to the Assembly floor.

The bill by Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, was approved Wednesday by the Ways and Means Committee on a 14-2 vote.

Indians have urged the legislature to drop plans to build the new mansion on an American River site which contains relics from a 3,000-year-old Maidu village and possibly Indian graves.

Upland council sets aid to civic groups

By PATRICK SPENCER
P-B Staff Writer

UPLAND — Eleven requests totalling $34,609 from a variety of organizations were approved Wednesday night in a lively second round of the city council's preliminary 1973-74 budget review.

Of the eleven organizations, nine received the same amounts approved in the current year's budget. These were the Chamber of Commerce, $19,000; Boys Club of Upland, $4,000; Chaffey Communities Cultural Center, $1,000; Symphony Chorale, $800; Alcoholics Education School, $720; Reach Out West End, $600; and Town Affiliation Association, $400. Both the West End Symphony and Opera Association were denied a $150 increase and were held to this year's amount of $850 each.

In new organizational requests, many prompted by the availability of revenue sharing funds this year, only three groups came away successful.

The Pop Warner Football League received an additional $5,000 for lighting of its practice fields, the Upland Soccer League received a one-time apporpriation of $740, and the Suicide and Crisis Intervention Service received $647.

Objections to the additional sports allocations were raised by Councilman Harold Bailin, who noted that $40,000 had already been included in the budget for baseball and football programs.

Debate grew even livelier and at times acrimonious over the denial of requests totalling $35,675 from Upland Head Start, Old Baldy Council of Boy Scouts, the Visiting Nurse Association and the Upland Homeowners Association.

The Head Start request for $15,491 to recoup some of its funds lost through federal cutbacks was denied, 3-2, largely on the basis that only 16 children from Upland would benefit from the program.

Mayor Abner Haldeman and Councilmen George Gibson and A. M. Hawkins could find no justification in their minds for the large request. Gibson felt the county should assume responsibility for the program, while Mayor Haldeman, commenting in another matter, referred to preschoolers as being largely "the responsibility of their parents."

Councilman Bailin argued that the money would be "a proper appropriation of revenue sharing. We have an obligation to make some sort of contribution to this enterprise," he said, and proposed that the group be given $5,000 out of the federal allocation.

That motion and one by Mayor Pro-Tem John McCarthy to transfer $4,000 previously earmarked for a downtown area study both died for lack of seconds.

Opinions were a little closer to unanimity over the request for $5,484 to fund the Upland Explorer Scout program, which serves 200 youngsters.

The council sided against Mayor Haldeman, 4-1, in denying the request and seemingly agreed with Councilman Bailin, who commented, "if we cannot afford Head Start, it would be desperately difficult to explain an increase for scouts."

Following a brief, but sympathetic, denial of the Visiting Nurse Association's request for $4,700, the council considered a request of $10,000 by the Upland Homeowners Association to fund a newsletter summarizing city council and planning commission action.

Councilman Gibson felt the group's idea was a worthwhile one, but that their request was too high. He proposed an alternative appropriation of $1,000, ultimately approved.

But Councilman Bailin called the entire request a "practical joke" and described the group as having "no responsibility to anybody but themselves. They should be able to attract enough people to carry their expenses. This is an example of a colossal dole."

Councilman Gibson countered that the group had been doing good work examining legislation and zoning, and deserved some help.

Bailin then charged the motion was "political horseplay. They haven't asked for $1,000 and they've done nothing in the last two years except act as a lobby group. This becomes ludicrous."

He further charged that the motion was a "political payback," indicating some attempt to curry favor with the homeowners.

"I resent those remarks," said Gibson.

"They were intended to be resented," replied Bailin and the two councilmen seemed ready to launch into a verbal battle.

But they were cut off by Councilman Hawkins, who, acting as chairman for the evening, cut off by debate and called for a vote.

The council —"for reasons beyond my calculation," quipped Hawkins — voted 3-2 in favor of giving the group $1,000 provided a proper budget is submitted.

In other less controversial action, the council tentatively restored some $19,000 in cuts made in the police department's $867,915 budget request, increased City Attorney Donald Maroney's yearly salary by $2,400, tentatively restored $4,265 for expansion of animal control facilities and the hiring of an additional control officer, and approved the library's budget request of $250,750.

A third budget review session has been scheduled for Wednesday, June 13, at 7 p.m. in the council chambers.

The 1973-74 budget, still based on the same tax rate of $1.80 per $100 of assessed valuation, totals $6,684,060. The amount is 24 per cent higher than the current budget. The $1.3 million difference is largely the result of the recently approved Civic Center construction project and state-funded highway improvements.

Major revenue sources for the new budget include $1,446,575 in various taxes, $595,400 from various state and local agencies, $465,705 in charges for city services, $662,700 from gas taxes, $193,465 in federal revenue sharing, and $922,250 in various water fund revenues.

Major expenditures include $2,857,755 for salaries and fringe benefits, $225,075 in capital outlay, and $1,806,240 in capital improvement projects.

The budget is balanced, according to City Manager Elwin Alder, with no unapplied appropriations. It may be augmented, he said, by a $110,000 surplus in excess general fund revenues for the current year.

Bill would expose dirty campaigning

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A "watchdog" commission would be set up to establish rules against unfair election campaign tactics under a bill which has advanced to the Assembly floor.

The bill (AB362) by Assemblyman Henry A. Waxman, D-Los Angeles, was approved Wednesday by the Ways and Means Committee on a 16-0 vote. Similar bills have died in the Senate in past years.

Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada, argued the bill would do nothing to halt dirty campaigning and was designed only to give the public a false impression that the legislature was doing something about the problem.

But Waxman said the bill had some merit and was likely to be the only kind of measure acceptable to the legislature this year.

Tax surplus bill amended

Sales tax may increase Jan. 1

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Democratic - sponsored bill, amended to copy a key provision of Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to spend the projected $829 million tax surplus, advanced in the Senate today.

The measure's lead author, Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Garden Grove, said the drastic amendments were offered as an "olive branch" to Republicans as a gesture of Democratic "flexibility."

The bill (AB7) cleared the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee Wednesday on a bipartisan 5-2 vote and went to the Finance Committee.

The measure, supported by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, was rewritten by Cory to delay imposition of the scheduled July 1 sales tax increase until next Jan. 1, precisely the same as Reagan's would do.

Originally, the bill called for postponing the five to six cents on-the-dollar boost until July 1, 1974, which would consume most of the state's projected one-time tax surplus. Both bills would use up about $368 million by delaying the increase for six months.

The amended Democratic bill also would spend $313 million of the surplus by cancelling the sale of unsold bonds for clean water, recreation and health facilities construction. This would save the taxpayers about $164 million in payments on bond interest, Cory said.

Use of the surplus for pay-as-you-go construction had been advocated by Republican state Controller Houston I. Flournoy, Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, and Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post.

Reagan's surplus bill, pending on the Senate floor, also would grant a one-time 20 per cent income tax reduction next April 15, consuming about $350 million of the surplus.

Both measures would appropriate $77 million to make the state Capitol earthquake-safe and to purchase land for beaches and parks.

"We're trying to get the money back to the taxpayers," Cory said. "We're trying to do something in a legislative fashion rather than in an initiative program."

The governor's proposed tax limitation ballot initiative, in part, calls for a one-time 20 per cent income tax reduction next year, the same as is proposed by his bill, and would grant a permanent 7.5 per cent income tax cut.

The legislature passed and Reagan recently signed an "urgency" bill to delay imposition of the sales tax increase until July 1. This gave the lawmakers and Reagan an extra month to try to resolve their differences over how to spend the surplus.

Cory told the committee he hoped for speedy action so Reagan could sign surplus legislation into law by July 1, only 23 days away.

The committee also approved on a 5-3 vote a bill by Sen. James Q. Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, to return to every income taxpayer a whopping 40 per cent rebate of the taxes he paid on his 1972 income up to a maximum $500 per person.

That measure would consume a tax surplus projected at $1.17 billion at the end of the fiscal year ending July 1, 1974, whereas the Reagan and Assembly Democratic bills deal only with the surplus stockpiled during this fiscal year. The Wedworth bill also would postpone the sales tax increase for one full year.

Indian education aid wins committee vote

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A $1.6 million bill establishing 20 supplemental educational centers for California Indians during the next two years has been endorsed by the Senate Education Committee.

Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, said the three federally financed educational centers for Indians operating in the state have proven the most successful of dozens of "pilot' projects functioning in California.

His bill (SB1269) to expand the program with state funds was sent to the Finance Committee Wednesday on an 80 vote with little debate.

Daniel R. Bomberry, director of the existing Owens Valley Center, said the facilities act as a supplement to regular schools, providing tutoring and other assistance to students. During their first three years of operation, Bomberry said the centers have been able to reduce dropout rates.

He said the new centers ultimately could serve 30,000 Indian youngsters both on and off reservations.

Lonely suicide benefits school

CLAREMORE, Okla. (UPI) — Marshall Moore, an "awful lonely" diabetic, worked for six months as a maintenance man at the Westside Elementary School in 1971, then quit.

"That six months at the school was his whole life," said Jim Smith, a funeral director and one of the few people who ever got to know Moore.

Moore, 52, filed an unsuccessful suit against the school district for back wages, but was unhappy about doing it. He called Smith last week to make arrangements for his own funeral. Monday, he called Smith again and asked him to come out to his farm. He said it was not urgent

When Smith arrived, he found Moore's body lying just outside the back door to the farmhouse. He had been shot with a 12-gauge shotgun. The county medical examiner ruled the death suicide.

Moore's will was read Wednesday. It provided that his property, including an 80-acre Black Angus cattle ranch valued at $70,000 to $90,000, be sold and the money given to the Westside Elementary School.

Moore went to work at the school when his mother died and left him alone on the farm a half-mile from town.

"He was an awful lonely person, awful lonely," said Smith. "People just didn't notice him."

Because he couldn't take care of the school's boiler, Moore was switched to the night shift. He didn't like the hours so he quit.

His suit for $400 in back wages was dismissed on a technicality. Smith said Moore felt very badly about filing suit and claimed someone had talked him into doing it.

"He said he'd never let anyone talk him into something like that again," Smith said.

A.C. Phillips, the school's business director, said Moore "realized schools didn't get everything they needed and he felt the schools needed more."

Smith said it went a little deeper than that.

"His father had diabetes and had a breakdown years ago," Smith said. "Marshall was a brittle diabetic and was taking two insulin shots a day. He realized his time was limited.

"He didn't want to burden anyone—the state, the county, the city—anyone."

Air crash fatal to 11 of 12

SAN JUAN PEYETAN, Mexico (UPI) — A small airplane owned by one of Mexico's 29 states crashed Tuesday on takeoff in this western town. Officials said 11 of 12 persons on board died.

Witnesses said the plane, a Beechcraft owned by the line Transportes Aereos de Nayarit, was about 130 feet above ground when its nose suddenly dipped and it went down. They said it burst into flame on impact.

Witnesses said the plane took off in a strong wind, but authorities said the cause of the crash was still not known.

Nixon, Agnew should quit ---Fulbright

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Aark., said Wednesday Watergate "has embarrassed us before the world" and unless President Nixon can restore confidence in the government he and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew should resign.

"I consider the state of the union as very perilous," he said.

"I don't like to contemplate impeachment," Fulbright said. "I think it is a last resort. If the President is able to reestablish his leadership and create confidence in his capacity to govern, I'd be delighted to see him do it."

But he said in the absence of confidence in the government, the only dignified and useful way to unite the country would be for Nixon and Agnew to resign.

"Unless the President can do something, and I have no idea what he can do—it would be a miracle to me if he does it— unless he can restore confidence in his government and in the present government it seems to me he has no alternative—we have none—but for him and his vice president to resign," Fulbright said.

Union chief steps down

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Joseph De Silva has stepped down as head of the powerful Local 770 of the Retail Clerks Union, ending a year-long power struggle within the union.

De Silva's retirement after 36 years with the union ends a dispute with groups seeking his ouster. The move is part of an agreement whereby the international union is to take over the local until new officers are elected.

Pentagon uncaring about lost jobs, solon asserts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of a House subcommittee held two days of hearings on military base closings which asserts that the Pentagon makes little effort to help workers who face loss of their jobs.

Rep. Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., said Wednesday that the hearings also had shown that the Defense Department sometimes spends millions on construction at bases it knows are about to be closed.

Waldie, chairman of the employe benefits subcommittee of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, said the Pentagon "does not plan well for peace."

"The department of defense knows for years in advance which military bases it will close, but makes no effort to prepare affected individuals and communities until the latest possible moment," Waldie said.

He said reports of base closures in Massachusetts and Rhode Island had provided "some real horror stories" of how communities had been kept in the dark about facts they needed to plan for economic transition.

Waldie called for some non-defense agency to take over planning for conversion to a non-defense economy in communities which lose military bases.

He characterized as "unconscionable," the way DOD blithely makes debris of the hopes and aspirations of employees and communities which have supported it for many years."

7 are planning for communications meet

ONTARIO — Communications Workers of America (CWA) Local 9588 will re represented at the 35th annual convention of the CWA in Miami Beach, Fla., the week of June 18 by seven officers.

They are president State Olney, first executive vice president Jack Stowers, second executive vice presient Mike Crowell, Pomona Area vice president Al Smith, Hemet Area vice president Bill Fitzgerald, Palm Springs area vice president Raleigh Beattie, and secretary-treasurer Joel Clifton.

Olney said 2,500 delegates, alternates and visitors are expected to attend the convention at the Fontainebleau Hotel.

Major decisions on economic and legislative policy, as well as other important subjects, will come up for debate.

Under the CWA constitution, the annual convention is the union's highest policy-making body. All delegates are elected.

Olney said the theme of this year's meeting is "Growth."

CWA now represents more than 550,000 men and women nationwide.

In the Pomona-Ontario, Hemet-Perris, Palm Springs-Indio area, Local 9588 represents 2,829 workers

Drug group, Tri-City link: spirit willing, legality weak

By TONY NAVARRO
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — The Tri-City Mental Health Authority is interested in taking under its wings the Pomona Valley Comprehensive Drug Planning Board but will wait for a report on how this can be legally done before approving a specific arrangement.

The planning board, which has no legal status as a public or private agency, wants Tri-City as a legal entity to become its "umbrella agency" to qualify for a $104,000 state grant to coordinate drug abuse treatment and prevention programs in the Pomona Valley area.

Tri-City, a cooperative mental health program, was formed under state laws to service residents in Pomona, Claremont and La Verne, the three cities which pay to help support the program.

However, the planning board's proposal to coordinate drug abuse-related activities would include an area larger than the three cities.

It would also cover San Dimas, the Cal Poly and Mt. San Antonio College campuses and portions of Diamond Bar and other unincorporated areas.

This situaion, said City Atty. Patrick Sampson, will present "rather substantial legal problems" in accommodating the planning board's request.

The request was made Monday at a meeting of the Tri-City governing board, which includes city council representatives from the three participating cities.

Stan Fikel, vice president of the planning board, said Tri-City's help was being sought as "fiscal or contractual agent" for his group, formed two years ago by councilmen from the three cities.

Sampson said regulations permit the formation by Tri-City of a committee on drugs, but it was indicated at the meeting this is not what the planning board has in mind.

The apparent plan is for Tri-City, on behalf of the planning board, to enter into a contract for the state fund to be administered by the latter which would hire its own program coordinator.

Thus while the Tri-City governors for fiscal accountability purposes would be the parent body, the planning group's operation would be a separate one.

The planning group would be assisted by an advisory board. Becuase the Tri-City governors also have an advisory board, this has caused some confusion.

Tri-City governors unanimously voted in favor of the ties if the legal technicalities can be worked out by staff members.

Sampson suggested a joint power agreement involving the three cities.

The planning group is seeking the funds under the provisions of Senate Bill 714, signed into law last December, which appropriated $14.3 million for the coordination of drug programs in the state.

Los Angeles County, which reportedly is eligible for $6 million, is broken up into a number of conditions under an Interagency Task Force on Drug Abuse. The planning board forms one of the coalitions.

Also at Monday's meeting, Mexican-Americans repeated their requests that they be represented on the planning board.

Councilman Ben Ochoa asked for the city staff guidelines to be followed in the appointment of members.

Another Tri-City governor, Claremont Councilwoman Bertye Smith, indicated she would first like to see the planning group qualify for the funds by settling the matter on the ties.

She suggested, however, that residents' views on representation be taken up with their respective councilmen.

Sampsoon said it would be at least 30 days before the staff report would be ready. The next regular meeting of Tri-City will be held July 9.

On another matter, the Tri-City board approved the renewal of an agreement with the state for vocational rehabilitation services.

Mary Perino, Miss Pinto of Southern California, and her horse Geranamo Shy-Ann, will compete Saturday and Sunday, June 16 and 17, against 200 other pintos and riders in the Pinto Horse Breeders and Exhibitors Summer '73 All Pinto Horse Show at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds. The show will start at 8 a.m. both days.

New college being studied for Claremont

POMONA — The possibility of another institution joining the cluster of six Claremont Colleges is still in the exploratory stage.

Developing financial backing for the associated colleges and doing research into possible future expansion are part of the responsibility of Claremont University Center of which he is vice chancellor, said Wiley H. Critz at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday at the Elks Lodge.

Whether another college is needed and what type it should be is still under study, Critz said. There are some people, he said, who think the University Center should concentrate on supporting the existing colleges to make them models of excellence.

Others suggest, he added, that the cluster cannot stop growing now because its promise will not be realized until there are additional new elements.

Critz said there are mixed feelings over a proposed school of medicine, plans for which have bogged down because of the lack of federal and state funding.

Whether a new college was devoted to medicine, law or business management, it would have to conform to the same standards and principles of the existing colleges, possessing a sound educational program, an innovative spirit, and adequate financing, according to Critz.

He spoke also of the University Center's work in establishing through grants all-Claremont professorships to attract distinguished scholars to teach in the Claremont group.

In the six months he has been in Claremont, Critz said, he has come to feel that the Claremont Colleges are more respected in other parts of the country than they are at home.

The Claremont Colleges are special in the field of higher education, Critz said, because they have: 1. Achieved an exceptionally high quality of educational excellence. 2. Have responded to an urgent need to strengthen the private college sector and represent a diversity of academic freedom and freedom from political control. 3. Accepted the challenge to make the cluster experiment contribute all it can to higher education.

PROVIDE PRESCHOOL TRAINING

Three students from the Claremont Colleges, Angela Aquirre, left, Martha Mercade, center, and Georgina Greenham work with preschoolers at La Escuelita, 810 S. White Ave., Pomona.

2nd doctorate for city pastor

POMONA — Dr. Dana Pankey, president of Pomona Valley Christian Schools, Inc., will be awarded a doctor of law degree from Western State University College of Law in Anaheim June 16.

Commencement will be held at 3 p.m. in the Anaheim Convention Center.

Following commencement, Pankey will have the distinction of holding degrees in three professional fields: education, theology and law.

He holds bachelor of arts, master of arts, bachelor of divinity and doctor of philosophy degrees.

Industrial arts projects shown at the library

POMONA — Industrial arts projects by junior and senior high school students and their instructors are being displayed at the Pomona Public Library through June 13.

Articles on exhibit include stereo cabinets, ornamental metal work, sound systems, castings and multi-color screen printing.

"The things we have on display at the library are typical of the high quality work accomplished in the schools," said Dr. Gene Brophy, coordinator of secondary education programs for the Pomona Unified School District.

"Both the teachers and the students are to be commended. It is expecially nice to have work by young girls represented in the exhibit."

Mexican-American preschool here struggles for life as funds run out

By PHYLLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — La Escuelita (the little school) is in trouble.

It is losing its home, a large part of its staff and now is wholly dependent upon contributed funding.

Started more than a year ago by students of the Claremont Colleges, La Escuelita provides preschool experience for 20 Mexican-American boys and girls 2 to 5.

It opened in a city-owned house here which last March, following a kitchen fire, was declared unsafe by the fire department.

Now it meets in the Mexican Congregational Church at 810 S. White Ave., but the agreement to use the facility is expiring.

At first, ACTION — a federal volunteer program — funded La Escuelita. That funding ran out last February.

If the school is to continue through the summer, according to volunteer student leaders, it must have a new home and additional funding.

The college students have raised enough money for materials to keep two students in the school over the summer. They're hoping for additional volunteers, including parents.

La Escuelita is bicultural and bilingual, with morning sessions five days a week. Its purpose is to help Mexican-American children make the transition from home to public school.

Phyllis Wiener, a Pitzer College sophomore assisting at La Escuelita, said parent participation is encouraged not only to determine direction but to assist.

The curriculum includes Mexican culture, English, Spanish, pre-reading and mathematics concepts.

Colors and shapes also are taught.

Jill Cooper, one of the founding students, said her experience at La Escuelita has confirmed her interest in early childhood education and her determination to become a teacher.

Rick Gutierrez of the Chicago Studies Center is writing a proposal for the school for next year. His proposal will be presented to Pitzer College for acceptance as an external studies program. This year Pitzer students are receiving credit for their work at La Escuelita.

Sue Siebel, an assistant professor of education at Pitzer, describes La Escuelita as "a phenomenally successful student-run program." The students, she said, are dedicated, have learned child development, Chicano culture and something of community politics.

Anyone interested in helping keep La Escuelita functioning is asked to call 629-6505 Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and noon.

Planning Commission appointments made

POMONA — A savings and loan executive and a vocational instructor will become members of the Planning Commission July 1.

They are Rick Hagstrom, a vice president of the Great Western Savings and Loan Association, and John M. Nabarrete, instructor in shoe repair at the California Institution for Men in Chino.

They were appointed by the City Council to replace Roy Day, who has been elected to the school board, and Jerry Shephard, who has been on the commission since 1968.

Hagstrom, 27, was finance chairman for the campaign committee for the election of Mayor Ray J. Lepire.

He joined Great Western in 1964 in Orange County and since 1971 has been manager of the association's offices on Pomona Mall West. Hagstrom and his wife, Vicki, live at 1055 Ashport St.

Nabarrete, 50, has been a resident here all his life.

He previously served on the Community Life Commission and the Citizens' Budget Advisory Group.

He has been employed at CIM for the past four years.

Nabarrete and his wife, Reyes, have four children. The family home is at 2069 Pandora Way.

La Verne woman faces high court

POMONA — Mrs. Vicki Lee Vogelsang, 30, of La Verne, has been bound over to Pomona Superior Court to answer the charge of attempting to murder her husband.

Robert Vogelsang, 55, of 1010 La Rue St., La Verne, was shot six times May 25 with a small-caliber revolver his wife had bought without his knowledge, police said. Vogelsang accompanied his wife to court Tuesday. She is free on bail.

At the close of the preliminary hearing, Pomona Municipal Court Judge Robert C. Gustaveson ordered her arrainged in Superior Court June 20. No reason for the shooting was revealed during the hearing.

Authoritites said Vogelsand still carries five of the six .22-caliber bullets which struck him in the neck and chest. The sixth passed through his body.

Brown submits bill to study national population control

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. George E. Brown Jr., D-38th Dist., on behalf of himself and 24 other congressmen introduced legislation which, if passed, would establish a National Institute of Population Sciences.

The bill, HR 8114, has been referred to the Committee of Interstate and Foreign Commerce.

The purpose of the institute would be to conduct, among other things, basic applied and direct research and training related to population matters such as biomedical research in reproductive biology, research in the development of fertility control technology, research in the medical and other effects of fertility control methods.

The bill further directs that the director and deputy director of the institute shall be appointed by the President.

Legal processes open to teachers

For the past two years the teachers in the Pomona Unified School District have not had a cost of living adjustment in their salaries. It has not been the fault of the board of education. There has just not been the financial resources to give a raise. Obviously, the teachers should not be expected to continue to subsidize the educational program of the district.

This year, the board of education is in a position to make an improvement in employe salaries, thanks to Senate Bill 90, and to restore some of the educational programs that have had to be cut.

The Associated Pomona Teachers asked for a 16½ per cent increase. Historically, the board of education has always given top priority to employe salaries whenever there has been money available. This year is no exception.

The 8½ per cent increase the board has offered the teachers and classified employes for next year accounts for 85 per cent of the total anticipated new money. The remaining 15 per cent would restore a partial sixth period at high schools, provide additional educational materials and supplies, and maintain custodial services at their present level.

The APT has rejected the 8½ per cent increase which would give the lowest paid teacher an increase of $987 next year, and top level teachers an increase of $1,683.

The Representative Council of the APT passed a resolution Wednesday to take a strike vote early Friday morning if the administration does not present an acceptable salary proposal by this afternoon. A strike by teachers would be regrettable. Not only is it against the law, but breaking the law would indeed be a poor example for teachers to set for their students.

There is a legal process for resolving persistent disagreement and teachers may request fact finding. It is possible, also, that some compromise may be reached without resorting to civil disobedience.

Avenues of the legal processes should always be pursued instead of taking illegal steps. If teachers strike, everyone loses, the teachers, the kids, and the community.

This coach may be offside

Alexander the Great banned long hair and beards on his soldiers in order to deny the enemy a convenient handhold. A football coach in Texas would extend the ban to the athletic field, but for a somewhat different reason.

Long hair on boys and men is the sign of a sissy, according to Tony Simpson, head coach at a suburban Houston high school, writing in the Texas High School Coaches Assn. magazine.

No only that, but God made man to dominate woman, says Simpson, and therefore meant for him to wear short hair.

The coach will get no argument about the latter sentiment (except maybe from a few tens of millions of women). But he treads on shaky ground when he goes on to say: "The only reason males are free to look like females and their coaches are free to permit it is because we had real men that were not cute, not sweet and not pretty with courage and sense enough to kill our enemies on battlefields all over the globe."

Coach Simpson has evidently never looked closely at a dollar bill, which carries the portrait of one of the chief authors of the nation's freedom, whose 200th anniversary we will celebrate in a few years.

George Washington wore a curled wig both in and out of battle. He was an aristocrat, of course. The ordinary fighting man of 1776 made do simply by clubbing his long hair into a knot at the back, often securing it with a ribbon.

Those fellows did all right at the enemy-killing business.

Still growing

Growth is anathema to some of the extreme environmentalists, but they still haven't found a way to stop it.

So California continues growing.

One evidence of this is the prediction by Pacific Gas and Electric Company that 96,000 new dwelling units — 59,000 of them single-family — will be built in its Central and Northern California service area this year. In a parallel estimate, the utility expects to add 78,000 new electric and 56,000 new gas customers, for year-end totals of 2,844,000 and 2,438,000 respectively.

That the new dwelling unit total is down from the 109,000 of last year should not encourage anti-growth environmentalist too much. It's still higher than all but two other years since 1962.

Providing energy for this continued growth has become more complex because of environmental activities, but within the sometimes wild-eyed limits forced by such extreme measures as Proposition No. 20 the state's utilities and industries are adjusting their planning and construction programs as best they can. Which is fortunate for the rest of us, who want a good environment as much as anyone, but recognize that it and growth are not entirely antithetical.

Nixon's cover-up administration

WASHINGTON — The Watergate cover-up apparently has become the style throughout the Nixon Administration. Government auditors have ben encountering "increasing difficulties" in gaining access to records of fraud, waste and mismanagement.

This is the report we get from inside the General Accounting Office, which is the investigative arm of Congress. Under the law, the GAO has a legal right "to examine any books, documents, papers, or records of any . . . department."

Yet obstacles have been raised, in apparent violation of this law, to hamstring GAO investigations. Comptroller General Elmer Staats confirmed to my associate Joseph Spear that his auditors have noticed a "distinct tightening up" of their access to documents.

As Staats put it, government agencies have become "supercautious," thereby causing "tremendous delays" in GAO's investigations. Worst offenders: the State, Defense and Treasury Departments.

State's Agency for International Development, for example, ordered its employes not to disclose any "recommendations or planning data" to the GAO.

Treasury's Internal Revenue Service simply refuses to let the GAO look at its books, although IRS records are made available to other agencies. "As a practical matter," Staats told Spear, "we don't see why they should cooperate with so many others and not cooperate with the GAO."

Even the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, a quasi-governmental agency, has refused to open its files to the auditors. Last fall, the GAO requested some records, but CPB responded by circulating a confidential memo to its officers instructing them not to cooperate. They were told to say that the inquiries were "beyond the scope" of GAO's authority and that they, therefore, "declined to pursue the matter."

President Nixon himself set the pattern by invoking executive privilege to block the GAO from examining "internal working documents" for military assistance and foreign aid spending.

What the President once promised would be an "open" Administration has become a cover-up Administration.

FOOTNOTE: Staats feels the situation is so serious that he is asking Congress for authority to take uncooperative agencies to court. If any agency should still refuse to cooperate, the GAO wants the legal right to cut off their funds.

MILK PRICES: In the name of "consumer protection," the Senate Agriculture Committee has passed legislation that would raise milk prices and fatten the bank accounts of the big milk cooperatives.

Even more shocking, the language was drafted by two milk co-ops that have been accused by the Justice Department of antitrust and coercion charges.

The measure would give Associated Milk Producers, Inc., and Dairymen, Inc., together with their allies throughout America, the power to raise milk prices without serious government hindrance. It would also strike heavily at the nation's independent dairy farmers.

The two big co-ops have been charged in federal civil antitrust suits with "coercion," "threats" and attempted boycotts of other milk producers.

Yet they were able to get their friends in the Senate to slip the anti-consumer milk provision into the omnibus farm bill ironically entitled "Agricultural and Consumer Protection Act of 1973."

The sheer size of the bill made it easy for the two co-ops to weave language, worth millions to the milk industry, into the bill. The 110 witnesses in 14 days of hearings so bewildered some senators that they left the final meeting not knowing exactly what they had voted for.

Dairy contributions of more than $50,000 to seven committee members may also have helped mute senatorial objections.

They are Sens. Richard Clark, D-Iowa, $7,500; Carl Curtis, R-Neb., $2,000; Robert Dole, R-Kan., $2,500; James Eastland, D-Miss., $15,000; Jesse Helms, R-N.C., $1,000; Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., $18,000; Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., $4,100.

Consumer-minded senators, who discovered the multimillion-dollar bonanza after it had already been approved by the committee, hope to remove it from the final bill on the Senate floor. Otherwise, they fear it not only would boost milk prices but would kill any chance that the antitrust suits can be prosecuted.

FOOTNOTE: Milk importers have complained that the dairy lobby has so limited dairy imports that prices will go up anyway.

PAUL HARVEY

The bread we spread in space

We really didn't need all that trouble with Skylab. With Yankee dollars shaky worldwide and shrinking stateside; with confidence in Americanism shaken by public debt and public scandal; we really did not need any "bugs" in our prestigious $294 million Skylab project.

Queen Isabella did not hock her jewels to finance Columbus just to prove the world was round; she wanted to claim for Spain the rumored riches of the Indies. The primary motivation for most exploration has been monetary and it still is.

Budget-pinched Americans have sometimes construed our space budget as an "expense" rather than an "investment." Even members of Congress whose districts lack jobs right-now dependent on space exploration are inclined to ignore the long-term fringe benefits.

The myriad products and processes which have already resulted from our investment in space exploration have profited us economically many times over.

For example, new electrical wiring which can be stuck on a wall and painted over, batteries which can be charged 100 times faster, more accurate digital clocks, the sight-switch with which a paralyzed person can steer a wheelchair.

Each of these is a spinoff from our successes and our failures in space. Safer automobile tires, antifogging compound for your windshield and your eyeglasses, improved lubricants and heat-tolerant ceramics for kitchenware—all have been harvested from "empty space" technology.

Space exploration has resulted in 1,892 patents for practical, usable, beneficial, productive "things" which never were before and might never have been.

And yet we invest only two cents of each federal budget dollar in this highly profitable research while 45 cents of every dollar goes to one or another form of welfare.

Last year our government spent a total of $3 billion on space; California alone spent that much on welfare programs! Forgetting the material blessings, just the medical fallout from 11 years of spaceflight may add that many years to the life of each of us.

Illnesses are now being diagnosed and treated by remote control. Bloodless surgery is being performed now with tools developed by space medics.

Our space-bought knowledge of our own planet—its seas, its resources, its climate—is of infinitely greater ecological significance than the combined efforts of the shortsighted ecologists who would divert space money.

America has not bought so much for so little since the Louisiana Purchase. The "bread" we spread in space comes back a hundredfold!

Bridging the gap

The Bridge column is probably the feature of the Progress-Bulletin that appeals to me most. As soon as I open the paper I look for it.

On occasion, as happened June 4, the hand pattern does not match with the discussion, and it is very frustrating. I lay awake all night 6-4 trying to decide if by some legerdemain Oswald Jacoby could take 10 tricks on the hand shown without his usual explanation of his skill.

Finally I rested after realizing that Jacoby, Father and Son, were "Male Chauvinist Pigs" and wanted to point out that four Queens were not enough and that South overvalued Queens when Kings would have done the job. Maybe South was a lady that liked Queens.

In order to save me this mental anguish, you could have an important editorial person proofread to be sure the hand pattern matches the discussion in the bridge hand. It would be very interesting for you to put in the paper the proper discussion for the hand pattern shown in the June 4 issue. — J. E. Maurer, Claremont.

(Editor's Note: For reader Maurer and all other bridge buffs, the Progress-Bulletin is publishing today the correct bridge columns for Monday and Tuesday, as well as the customary Thursday column.)

Live within income

Misleading headlines: The other day I noticed a headline in your paper where the Pomona City Council was considering $263,000.00 in cuts in the city budget. Nowhere in the story did it mention the toal increase in the new budget of $1,137,918!

With most of us tightening our belts and making do with last year's model, why is it the new Mayor and council are continuing to spend us into bankruptcy?

Thank goodness for SB-90 wherein they can no longer raise the tax rate. Maybe now they will learn to live within their income.—Richard C. Brownell, former mayor, Pomona.

Gossip for today

Do coming events cast their shadows before? Is there such a thing as extrasensory perception? My answer to that is a most emphatic YES. And what's more, I am convinced that the late President Lyndon Johnson was one who had a special ability for anticipating the future. I firmly believe that he had a premonition regarding this country's present energy shortage. Otherwise why was he forever turning out the electric lights in the White House?

INSIDE REPORT

Ehrlichman spied for Nixon in '60

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — John D. Ehrlichman, one of the most powerful men in America until his resignation from the White House staff April 30, began his political career in 1960 as a political espionage agent for Richard M. Nixon spying on Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and the Democratic national convention.

As an unknown 35-year-old zoning lawyer from Seattle, Ehrlichman was officially listed as a Nixon advance man in 1960 working under his close friend and former UCLA classmate, chief advance man H. R. (Bob) Haldeman. In fact, he was an undercover agent stalking Rockefeller's abortive campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. Later he was assigned as a secret observer to the 1960 Democratic convention in Los Angeles that nominated John F. Kennedy.

Thus, whether or not the courts finally tie him directly to the Watergate scandal, Ehrlichman's meager political background was in the little-known clandestine side of campaigning. Indeed, as recently as August 1968, when Ehrlichman turned up at the Republican national convention as a high Nixon aide, fellow staffers thought of him mostly as a "security" man.

Ehrlichman made no secret of his political beginnings in a May 1970 interview with William W. Prochnow, then Washington correspondent for the Seattle Times (now an aide to Democratic Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington). Because of his anonymity, Ehrlichman said, he was assigned to "operative work" stalking Rockefeller.

Drove Rockefeller's car

For example, Ehrlichman told of driving a Rockefeller car in the Governor's campaign procession in North Dakota—apparently his June 3-4, 1960, swing through Fargo and several other towns. "The Rockefeller people thought I was from North Dakota, and the North Dakota people thought I was from Rockefeller," Ehrlichman told Prochnow. He enjoyed repeating the same story to friends in Seattle.

Ehrlichman described his undercover duties at the Los Angeles Democratic convention as twofold: (1) to examine attitudes of the Southern delegates; (2) to prepare a dossier on the Kennedy campaign apparatus.

Senate diplomacy

Behind the long Senate Foreign Relations Committee delay in confirming four top-ranking diplomats is a strange consensus by the strongly liberal-oriented committee to force President Nixon to send "new faces" to carry out U.S. policy in the Far East.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas is leading this pressure move against the administration, but he has allies in both parties who presently comprise a clear majority of the committee.

Thus, the nominations—sent to the committee between March 19 and May 8—may be held up for several weeks during closed-door bargaining with Secretary of State William P. Rogers. These continued vacancies, high officials believe, could damage U.S. Far Eastern policy.

The delayed appointments are: G. McMurtrie Godley, assistant secretary for Far Eastern affairs; Graham Martin, ambassador to South Vietnam; William Sullivan, ambassador to the Philippines, and Charles S. Whitehouse, ambassador to Laos. All manned key diplomatic posts in the Far East over the last decade.

With the Vietnam war officially ended, Senators engaged in the big stall claim "new faces" should be sent to the Far East to carry out a "new policy." But it is hardly conceivable that the administration would back down on its nominees, each of whom is highly respected in the Senate. Despite Mr. Nixon's present weakness, the most the pressure can conceivably accomplish is to change the pattern of future ambassadorial assignments.

Squeezing Dean

The intense White House hostility toward fired presidential counsel John W. Dean III deepened last week with new restrictions on the use of his old documents.

Until now, Dean had been permitted to duplicate documents from his files, stored in the basement of the Executive Office Building next door to the White House. The procedure: a secretary, under the watchful eye of an FBI agent, would remove documents selected by Dean and duplicate them for Dean's use.

But last Wednesday the White House instructed Dean that henceforth he could personally examine but not copy or remove his old files.

Dean is seeking immunity from prosecution in return for testimony that allegedly would implicate not only his White House superiors but the President himself. The White House is in no mood to help refresh his recollections.

A SEA OF COLLEGE GRADS

Six hundred students, the largest graduating class in the 82-year history of La Verne College, received bachelor's and master's degrees Sunday afternoon during open air ceremonies at the college quad.

Registration will start for swimming sessions

LA VERNE — The parks and recreation department will conduct registration for summer swimming lessons for children during the next two Saturday mornings 9 to noon at Las Flores Pool.

The classes will begin June 18 and will continue in two-week sessions through August.

Classes which will be offered are beginners, advanced beginners, intermediate swimmers, junior and senior life-saving, water ballet, mommy and me, swim and trim, and diving.

The fees are $5 for 10 30-minute lessons, $8 for junior and senior lifesaving (18 one-hour lessons), and $15 for water ballet for the summer.

In addition, $15 family swim passes are available which give unlimited swimming privileges to all family members during recreational swimming periods.

Additional information is available at the La Verne Recreation office, 593-4571.

New S&L opens doors in L.V.

LA VERNE — Open for business in its new building at the corner of Bonita and D streets is the First Federal Saving and Loan Co. of San Gabriel Valley.

Barret Anderson, manager, and his staff, moved from the temporary building to the tile-roofed brick building. Landscaping is being added.

The interior features dark woods and carpeting in colors of stained-glass harmonies. A central lounge area provides a comfortable waiting area. One of the features of the building is a room large enough to be used for community groups. Arrangements for its use can be made with Anderson.

A sign at the corner of the building carries time and temperature information.

College couple get Peace Corps post

LA VERNE — Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bowser, La Verne College students, are leaving this month for training and then assignment with the Peace Corps.

They are expecting to go to the island of St. Lucia in the Eastern Caribbean where he will work in speech pathology and she will work in teacher education.

S.D. man takes new position with bank

SAN DIMAS — James E. Freeman of San Dimas has been appointed construction manager in First Western Bank's properties department.

He joined the banking firm last November after having worked for Southern California Gas Co. in construction management and with an architect firm.

Freeman received an architectural engineering degree from Cal Poly. He is a member of the American Institute of Architects.

Damien High chooses scholar of the year

LA VERNE — Mark Julius was named as Damien High School's scholar of the year recently at the school's annual academic banquet.

Named as the athlete scholar of the year was Bill Wilkinson, while Larry Aviles won the outstanding service award.

Students named as recipients of awards from the Bank of America were Julius, Martin Rollins, Jeff Ball, Joe Altmashofer, James Carmicino, John Thornton, Nick Raymond, Brian Ranney, Joe Schwartz, Tom Lucero, Mike Johnson, James Wetenkamp, Ed Deason and Tom Driscoll. Lucero also won an award from California Savings, while Altmashofer also won an General Tire Foundation Merit Scholarship.

Senior class members presented with subject awards were Mike Johnson, religion; Tom Lucero, English and math; Mark Julius, science; Archie Held, art; Adel Nammour, French; Tom Driscoll, social science; Steve Gainey, drafting; and Nick Raymond and Ed Deason, speech. The outstanding senior award went to Lucero.

Subject awards for the freshman class went to Chris Pousset, religion; Steve Avery, English; Mike Kelleher, Spanish; John Reilly, Latin; Robert Schmidt, German; Anthony Bellomo, social science; and Jack Voller, speech. Pousset was named as the outstanding freshman.

Santa visits with firemen at L.V. dinner

LA VERNE — La Verne firemen who were honored at the La Verne Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner received a surprise visit from Santa during the dinner.

Bursting into the dining hall, Santa said, "I've been looking for a bunch of guys in La Verne for about 46 years who aren't home on Christmas morning. I just found out that they have been trying to help me all these years. So I have a little gift for each of them." With the help of Robin Benedict, Miss La Verne, Santa presented each fireman with a key chain with a pendant saying, "Thank you, La Verne Volunteers, 1973".

Mitchell Gilberts visit friends here

LA VERNE — Visiting friends in La Verne over the weekend were Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell Gilbert of San Diego.

Gilbert was formerly the assistant to the superintendent of the Bonita Unified School District.

RICK VANDERBECK

Committee picks new officers

LA VERNE — Rick Vanderbeck will head the Award of Merit Committee for the coming year. He served as vice president during the past year.

Mrs. Lela Hathaway will be vice president; Mrs. Darlene Smith, corresponding secretary; Fred Shannon, treasurer; and Ed Weber and Phil Carroll, auditors. A recording secretary is yet to be named.

Vanderbeck pledged that the Award of Merit Committee would strive to continue to provide recognition for outstanding scholarship and citizenship for the high school graduates and students of the Bonita Unified Scoool District. Throughout the year, and with a special solicitation early next spring, funds will be sought to give scholarships to worthy students, he said.

Lots more glass, papers, aluminum swell coffers

LA VERNE — The Ecology Committee of the La Verne City Beatutiful Committee reports that about three tons of glass was collected by groups in La Verne during April.

During the same period 18 tons of newspapers and 440 pounds of aluminum were turned in.

The Historical Society of La Verne collected about eight tons of newspapers and the Boy Scouts of Troop 411, a little more than eight tons, with the Church of the Brethren handling two tons.

The aluminum is largely the project of the Eco-Action Club of La Verne College.

Most of the glass, 2½ tons, was turned in at the city's recycling center with the City Beautiful Committee handling it. Funds are added to the La Verne Plaza expense account.

Lowell Brandts' son working in Alaska

LA VERNE — Dene Brandt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Brandt, is now in Ketchikan, Alaska, working for the federal Forestry Service on a survey team.

Flown out to location by helicopter the crews spend several days on the job and then are returned for off-time to Ketchikan.

Brandt has had earlier experience in forestry work in Northern California.

Boys home asks donations for summer crafts

LA VERNE — Le Roy Boys' Home has issued an appeal for craft items to help keep residents of the home occupied for the summer.

Anyone who has paints, crayons, construction paper or other similar items to donate may call Rob Shamansky for pickup at the home 593-2581.

Last summer's arts and crafts classes culminated in a craft fair.

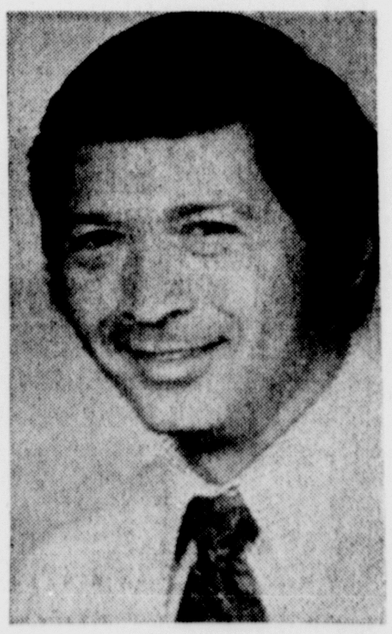
Masonic Lodge to honor school

SAN DIMAS — Members of the San Dimas Masonic Lodge 428 will sponsor a luncheon and cornerstone ceremony Friday afternoon honoring San Dimas High School.

The luncheon will be conducted at noon at the Stanley Plummer Community Building. The ceremony will be conducted at 2 p.m. at the school.

Participants will include Assemblyman William Lancaster, Mayor Thomas Nuss of San Dimas, Ted Glauthier, president of the Chamber of Commerce and William H. Price, grand master of the Masons for California and Hawaii.

JEAN HALGUNSETH



ISMAEL MONTES

Bonita PTA unit installs officers, honors Montes

LA VERNE — Jean Halgunseth was installed recently as the new president of the Bonita Council PTA at a dinner at Michael's Restaurant in Glendora.

In addition to the installation of PTA officers at the dinner, the PTA's honorary service award was presented to Ismael Montes of La Verne for his volunteer work with the PTA, the Bonita High Athletic and Band Boosters, the La Verne Fire Department, and his conducting of classes in glass blowing for Bonita and Pomona schools.

FIRST AMENDED SUMMONS CASE NUMBER EA C 9703
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES
300 West Mission Boulevard,
Pomona, California

Plaintiff(s): RAYMOND G. LAMB, Executor of the Estate of Norman H. Eller, vs. Defendant(s): WILLIAM ANTON and CLAUDIA M. ANTON.

To the Defendant(s):

A civil complaint has been filed by the plaintiff(s) against you. If you wish to defend this lawsuit, you must file in this court a written pleading in response to the complaint (or a written or oral pleading, if a Justice Court) within 30 days after this summons is served on you. Otherwise, your default will be entered on application by the plaintiff(s) and the court may enter a judgment against you for the money or other relief requested in the complaint.

If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your pleading, if any, may be filed on time.

Pentagon cuts off F-111 contract at 543 planes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon has unexpectedly announced that production of the controversial F111 Fighter Bomber, which is still flying missions over Cambodia, will be halted late next year.

General Dynamics, which manufactures the plane, said it was "flabbergasted" by the decision.

Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements Jr. told Congress in writing Wednesday that he made the decision because "the need for additional F111s is now less demanding then a number of other critical Department of Defense requirements:" He did not elaborate on the other projects.

The current production run ends in December, 1974 when the 543rd F111 rolls off the assembly line at General Dynamics' Fort Worth, Tex. plant. The firm has been producing one F111 a month.

When the project originally got off the ground in 1962, plans were to build 1,726 F111s for $3.4 million each. In the end, the 543 are costing $14.6 million apiece—a cost overrun of 430 per cent.

Alvin Spivak, a spokesman for General Dynamics, said the firm was "extremely disappointed and flabbergasted" at the Pentagon's decision "because we are convinced that the F111 has surmounted the misleading controversy of the past and has proved itself to be an outstanding combat aircraft for which there is a definite need."

The Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee charged in 1970 that the F111 was a "fiasco" because "management blunders were made at the highest echelons of government."

Thirty-one of the planes crashed, including eight in Indochina which may have been shot down. The aircraft has been grounded seven times because of technical problems, including one incident in which a wing broke off in flight.

The plane, however, had the lowest crash rate of any U.S. military fighter plane in the past two decades and has drawn praise from Air Force officials for its performance in the Indochina War.

Steamboat race to be firs in city since '31

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The first steamboat race here in 42 years will be held Sept. 23 when the Delta Queen takes on the Belle of Louisville.

The race will follow the Cincinnati Bengals' first home football game and both boats will be moored at the public landing on the Ohio River next to Riverfront Stadium.

The two riverboats have raced 10 times on the Ohio River at Louisville, Ky., as part of festivities at the Kentucky Derby. Each has won the race five times. The Delta Queen was the most recent winner May 2.

Self-important governors decide little

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI) — The nation's governors have departed mile-high Lake Tahoe after three days of telling each other how important they are becoming in American politics and declining to take stands on Watergate, wage-price controls and expanded revenue sharing.

There was plenty of corridor talk about Watergate at the 65th National Governors Conference, but Gov. John J. Gilligan of Ohio had to withdraw a resolution proposing to pose a series of questions to President Nixon about the affair, when he found his Democratic colleagues unwilling to back it.

The Democrats did come up with measures demanding that Nixon restore strong economic controls and condemning his proposals to substitute a system of "special revenue sharing" funds for existing single-purpose federal aid programs.

But conference rules require majorities of three-fourths to adopt individual resolutions and although Arkansas Gov. Dale Bumpers' proposals had 2 to 1 favorable margins, they died without debate.

Gov. Dan Evans of Washington, newly-elected conference chairman, told newsmen, "It was obvious the resolutions were political in nature. The action had nothing o do with their content."

In resolution and policy statements that were passed, the governors objected to administration plans for manpower training, special revenue sharing and adopted a broad energy crisis statement that included lower auto speed limits among possible fuel conservation measures and endorsed an Alaskan pipeline without specifying the controversial trans-Alaska project.

They also gave unanimous approval to measures endorsing the presidential vote for Guam and the Virgin Islands and congratulating the Texas Rangers on their 150th anniversary.

Both Evans and outgoing chairman Marvin Mandel of Maryland assured their colleagues at the closing session of the conference held in a plush gambling resort on the Lake Tahoe "mini-strip" that governors were gaining in status.

Evans said in his inaugural speech that there was a "swing back to power" for states and localities, and Mandel declared "We're getting stronger all the time."

Nixon administration officials also paid court to the governors. Secretaries Casper Weinberger of Health, Education and Welfare, James Lynn of Housing and Urban Development and presidential assistant Kenneth Cole assured the governors that the President wanted to enhance their power and asked them for help in getting Congress to fall in line.

Senate panel balks at TV film ruling

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A proposed rules change permitting a majority of a legislative committee to exclude any or all newsmen from a hearing was approved — then rescinded—by the Senate Rules Committee Wednesday.

Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego, committee chairman, said the panel reversed itself because a "bunch of people started to act like chickens with their heads cut off."

He referred to what he described as "stupid" news reports about the action.

Mills said committee chairmen always have had the "inherent power" to oust persons who cause "disruptions."

He said changes would be made in the proposal, which he authored, to state the "specific reasons" for which newsmen's equipment, such as television cameras, could be banned from a committee hearing. He said the rules change was not intended to ban reporters themselves but their noisy or disturbing equipment.

After approving the rules change on a 5-0 vote, the committee an hour later rescinded the action on a 4-0 vote.

The proposal originally was an effort to change the current Senate practice of allowing the objection of one committee member to bar the use of television and still cameras and recorders during a hearing.

That practice did not apply to newspaper or news service reporters.

The committee amended the rules change to include print media reporters in the provision allowing them to be ousted from hearings by a majority vote. The proposed new rule would not apply to Senate floor sessions, which are rarely permitted to be filmed.

On Monday, the Assembly approved a rules change for its house declaring that all newsmen accredited by the legislature may not be barred from taking photographs, televising or recording committee or floor sessions.

Rattles & straws

Loneliness of a sports fan

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

"Bunt, you dummy!" I bawl at the television screen. "Sacrifice the runner to second. That way you eliminate the chance of a—"

—"double play!" says the announcer. "And that's it for the Dodgers in the eighth. Two hits, no runs, one left."

"See?" I snort angrily, turning appealing to . . . an empty room. The family dog looks up inquiringly. "Wouldn't take my advice, would he, Duffy? Hit away. Call that strategy?" Duffy goes after a flea.

It is a widely accepted axiom of athletics that most sports fans prefer to watch games with other people, to share the friendly and informed knwoledge of tactics and strategy of football, baseball, basketball or hockey with others. It is what sends so many people to stadiums and arenas even when the game is on home television.

If you can't get to the Big A for the World Series game (hope I haven't jinxed 'em) the next best thing is to gather several knowledgeable and enthusiastic cronies around your television set with a case of beer and a carton of pretzels. That's fun! You argue, you debate, you make small bets. You groan in unision over the called third strike; you gasp together at the tremendous running catch on the warning track; you cheer the game-winning homerun with one voice.

If you can't get your buddies together for the Dodger-Reds crucial, you can always fall back on your family. But after a few minutes of lacklustre attention, your teen-age son leaves to pat clay or his girl, or decides it's time to strum his guitar—or his girl.

The Little Leaguer in the family watches with you for awhile and you give him advice on his batting stance and regale him with anecdotes of when the New York Yankees reigned supreme. But the kid has the interest span of a rhesus monkey, and he's soon off to throw rocks at the neighbor's cat.

That leaves you with your wife, who wouldn't know an infield fly from a wild pitch. She knits aaway at some undefinable swatch of something and keeps asking "Which one's Hank Aaron?" Not much help, but a notch above the family dog. I guess.

"See that?" you shout. (She didn't, of course.) "Perfect hit and run. When Cey started for second—"

"Yes, dear."

"When Cey started, the second baseman went over to cover and Joshua punched it right through the hole—that's called hitting behind the runner."

"Yes, dear."

"See, if the hit-and-run hadn't been on, it was an easy double play, because—"

"Yes, dear."

Then again, an empty room isn't all that bad.

Dismissed cadet fights honor system

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal appeals court delayed action Tuesday on a challenge to the U.S. Military Academy's cadet honor code that was filed by a cadet who was dismissed for allegedly breaking the code.

The cadet, Albert E. Andrews III, 22, of Petersburg, Va., was dismissed for lying to the West Point student honor committee about a carousing incident last Feb. 4.

He was arrested by military policemen for driving an unauthorized vehicle on the academy grounds while he was on leave. Andrews was charged with having alocholic beverages in the car and of being "improperly dressed" —in cutoff blue jeans.

At a student honor code hearing, Andrews said he was on the academy grounds only about 15 minutes on the day he was arrested. The MPs said they detained him for about two hours.

For allegedly lying about the details of his arrest and thereby violating the cadet honor code—"a cadet does not lie, cheat or steal, nor tolerate those who do"—the academy dismissed him.

Andrews appealed the ruling to the federal courts on grounds his constitutional right to due process was violated by the 12-member honor code committee.

A three-judge federal court of appeals stayed the case Tuesday, sending it to a lower court for a trial at an unspecified date. Until then, the court ordered, Andrews will continue on leave as a cadet instead of receiving his engineering degree and his commission as a second lieutenant.

Magicians stump scientists

Psychic phenomena probed at Stanford

MENLO PARK, California (UPI) — Stanford Research Institute, one of the nation's most prestigious "think tanks," is delving into the world of psychic phenomena.

Institute physicists Dr. Harold E. Puthoff and Russell Targ recently concluded work with Uri Geller, an Israeli magician, and are currently observing Ingo Swann, 39, a New York artist.

Swann, referred to the institute by the American Society of Psychical Research "apparently can perturb the operation of a shielded magnetometer," Puthoff says.

Whatever Swann does, it's doubtful he can upstage the sensational performance of Geller.

Geller, a conroversial figure with a wide following in Europe, was subjected to several studies under controlled laboratory conditions which were recorded on film.

Identifies pictures

In one, Geller was asked to identify pictures in a sealed envelope. The pictures were drawn on a file card when Geller was not at the institute.

The pictures, simple drawings of airplanes, houses and the like, were sealed in two envelopes and placed in a locked safe.

The scientists said Geller drew seven "almost exact" reproductions of the pictures.

Geller, an intense man with flowing black hair, was also subjected to the "dice box" experiment. The scientists placed a die in a metal box and shook it.

No observer in the room knew what number came up but, the institute said, Geller was able to give the correct answer the eight times the experiment was performed.

The probability of this happening is about one in a million, according to Puthoff and Targ.

Hidden object

There was also the "hidden object" experiment in which 10 identical aluminum cans were placed in a row with only one containing the object.

Geller would pass his hand over the row of cans or simply look at them before calling out the cans he felt were empty.

The experimenters removed the cans until only two or three were left and Geller announced which one held the object.

"The task was performed 12 times without error," the scientists reported. But on two occasions, Geller declined to answer.

Geller, they said, had no difficulty identifying water, steel ball bearings, and small magnets. He was apparently stumped by paper-wrapped ball bearings and a sugar cube.

The testing of Geller was not without its controversy.

One national magazine claimed to have "exposed" the experiments by having another magician do them. Not so, said the institute: none of the tricks he did were like these Geller performed.

No conclusions

Both Puthoff and Targ, who performed the study for some undisclosed foundations and former astronaut Edgar Mitchell, drew no sweeping conclusions from their work.

"We do not claim that either of these men has psychic powers," they said.

"We have observed certain phenomena for which we have no scientific explanation. All we can say at this point is that further investigation is clearly warranted. Our work is only in the preliminary stages."

Targ, who has a background in amateur magic himself, said the scientists were aware that many purported psychics have resorted to trickery.

That, he said, is one reason everything was conducted under rigidly controlled conditions.

Some experiments were discounted after their conclusion purely on the possibility that the subject might have cheated, even though there was no evidence he did.

The time to think about maintenance is before you buy.

Maintenance is the most important element in an intelligent buying decision and the one most often overlooked. If you buy a machine from a dealer who can't or won't back it up, it's like buying it "as is". Many machines have a factory guarantee, but the factory is often very far away and you have to send it off to get it repaired and that is very valuable time lost. We service everything we sell, we back every sale with our reputation, 46 years worth. Our expert servicemen stand ready to service or repair your purchase even after our own guarantee runs out. Can you afford less, our price is the same? It's our attitude that makes the difference.

LEVITZ IS NUMBER 1*

*THE WORLD'S LARGEST SELLER OF FAMOUS BRAND FURNITURE

*Levitz Soaring to No. 1 In Southern California

By JOANNE GAMLIN

LOS ANGELES — Levitz — a name which has long stirred awe and anxiety in traditional furniture dealers here — will realize a three-year old retail ambition this year.

The seven Levitz warehouse-showrooms here will nail down the position of No. 1 in any list of the top ten furniture retailers in southern California.

Refuting the Cassandras who spent a lot of time in 1972 predicting the warehouse-showroom momentum had begun to wear thin, Levitz was probably No. 1 in 1972 and will be the indisputable crown holder this year. Its full size warehouse-showrooms, combined with the smaller San Diego unit, will churn out total sales of nearly $80 million this year.

Russ deny they got Pentagon Papers in '71

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Embassy has issued a categorical denial that it was given copies of the Pentagon Papers in June, 1971.

Earlier the Washington Post quoted sources as saying an unidentified man, using an alias, handed the Soviet embassy a complete set of the top secret papers.

An embassy spokesman Tuesday called this report "a fabrication."

"The embassy categorically denies these allegations as absolutely groundless," the statement said.

Former White House aide Egil Krogh has testified that he was told by the FBI that the Soviets had the papers. According to Krogh's account, the alleged leak was partly the reason the administration set up a special investigation unit which broke into the office of the psychiatrist of Pentagon Papers distributor Daniel Ellsberg.

New electronic wrist watch made without moving parts

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — A new wrist watch with no moving parts, no hands and no dial, operating by electronic pulsar, has been developed by the Hughes Aircraft Corp., the company disclosed today.

The watch, which is powered by two tiny batteries, flashes the time in hours, minutes and seconds, and the date of the month, in lighted digits which appear on an otherwise plain black face when buttons on the side of the watch are pressed.

William Weakland, associate manger of the Hughes Microelectronics Products Division, said the watch would be on the market by August.

Weakland said there were other watches already available without dials but he said they all had mechanical parts.

The watch is hermetically sealed, shock proof, dust proof, water proof and never needs cleaning or lubricating, Weakland said.

Hughes said the new design eliminates all moving wearing points and instead of the mechanical balance wheel uses precise vibrations of a tiny quartz crystal.

It ticks off minutes and seconds with a pulse of more than 5,000 times per second. The watch has 1,500 transistors, compared to the average radio with 20 transistors, Hughes said.

The company claims the watch is accurate within one minute per year.

Weakland said the sale of wrist watches will be in the neighborhood of 300 million per year by 1980 and that Hughes feels it will have a substantial share of the market by then.

Hughes will not market the watch itself or through subsidiaries, Weakland said, but will instead furnish the workings to franchised companies for installation in casings of the customers' choice.

The watch is expected to sell originally at $175 but go down to less than $50 once mass production is underway.

Hughes top executives already are wearing first models of the new design.

Not so new

LONDON (UPI) — Local historians had a field day when a reorganization of local government units required new names for 296 new districts.

Some new names, which became official this spring, are descriptive — Three Rivers, for instance. But Restormel, the new name of a district in Cornwall, is the name of a 700-year-old castle and Wansdyke, new title for a district near Stratford, is the name of a road which crossed southwest England before the Romans came.

RETIREMENT CAKE — Two teachers who will say farewell to Claremont High next week were honored at a reception at the school library Tuesday. Milt Linman, at left, business teacher 14 years, puts his arm around his wife La Vonne, who shared the honors of cutting the cake. At right is Bill Booth, closing his math books after 42 years behind a desk.

Webb endowment to carry his name

Honors for retiring headmaster

CLAREMONT — A new teacher endowment at Webb School will carry the name of retiring headmaster and longtime Pomona Valley resident Frederick R. Hooper.

He was honored Sunday at the 51st commencement exercises at Webb School, where he has been headmaster the past 11 years. He will relinquish the post this summer.

His successor, Stephen R. Longley, flew from Connecticut to deliver the main address.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooper were given a bound volume of 200 letters from admirers by Alfred B. Hastings, chairman of the board of trustees.

A purse was also given as a mark of esteem from their many friends of 40 years at the school.

School president H. Earl Hoover II announced the establishment of the Frederick R. Hooper Master Teacher Endowment to perpetuate Hooper's name on the Webb campus.

The school's founder Dr. Thompson Webb gave Hooper an honorary diploma, enclosed in a traditional Bible each Webb graduate receives.

Assemblyman Robert C. Cline, a '51 graduate, presented to Hooper a California state resolution which the seniors had just returned.

Hooper called attention to the fact that more than 35 per cent of the graduating class of 45 were awarded memberships in the California Scholarship Federation for the current semester, with 26 per cent receiving life membership for outstanding work for four years. Six were named to the Cum Laude Society, national scholastic honorary society.

When awards were presented, Gov Ronald Reagan came forward to give out the Governor's Scholars' awards, for outstanding scholastic achievement to seniors throughout the state. Receiving such awards were Tom Cooper and Dale Martin, Pomona; Richard Barton and Chris Odgers of Claremont; Peter Anton, Cucamonga; Chris Morrison, Apple Valley, and Tom Thoron, Kansas City.

In his address, Longley challenged the graduates to seek happiness through "squandering themselves for a purpose" and challenged the school to continue to present to its sutdents the highest goals and to demand standards which they otherwise would not prefer to attain.

"If the emphasis which I find at Webb on integrity goes out with you, and if you continue to do what you know is right, then I think that through traditions this school has instilled in you, through firmly held priorities and a sense of responsibility, you as young men will fulfil your obligations to others."

Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin T. Cooper, Pomona, received a four-year scholarship to Pomona College, a California State scholarship. He had the highest average in the senior class—95.4.

Members of the graduating class are as follows:

Two Claremont teachers honored upon retirement

CLAREMONT — Two teachers, whose combined years with the Claremont School District total 56, were honored at a retirement reception by teachers and friends Tuesday afternoon at the Claremont High School library.

Bill Booth, who became a mathematics teacher at Claremont High in September 1931, will take his final walk to school next Thursday.

Milt Linman, business teacher for 14 years, expects to spend a lot more time with his wife, La Vonne, at their beach home at San Antonio del Mar in Baja California.

"I'm going to play it by ear," said Linman who's been learning to play the piano that way.

Booth and Linman stood by happily as Mrs. Linman cut into a huge cake on which was enscribed, "Happy Days Ahead Milt and Bill."

Booth was hesitant about attending the farewell party in his honor, because he once promised himself he didn't want a retirement party.

"I've got a lot of work to do at home," commented Booth, when asked about his plans.

Claremont High principal Alex Hughes presented going-away cards and gifts to each retiree, and said, "Their retirement is well-earned.

Booth recalled that when he went to work for the school district Claremont High was a two-story building at Foothill and Indian Hill boulevards and had about 175 students in a six-grade school, grades 7 through 12.

Asked why he had remained a teacher so many years, Booth said that if he had been forced to become a principal he would have resigned.

"Teaching math has not changed much, but math itself has," Booth commented. He recalled the change in mathematics about 1960, and siad, "I don't think we'll ever go back to teaching math as it was once taught."

He thinks modern math is more interesting and more complete.

Asked whether a parent should buy a pocket calculator for his child, Booth said, "I wouldn't recommend a calculator until the student is in the 10th or 11th grade and has learned his basics."

For years persons driving along Indian Hill Boulevard could tell the time of day when they saw Booth trudging northward to school from his home.

He would arrive at school about 7:25 a.m.

Asked if he would be a substitute teacher, Booth replied, "Not on your life. This is a real retirement."

Arrangements for the reception were handled by teachers Lynda Veatch, Gerry Lininger, Anne Waggoner and Linda Fender.

World's rice shortage ups U.S. exports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A continuing world rice shortage is forcing millions of Asians to fill in their diets with other grains and is producing strong markets for exporters including the United States, China and Pakistan, an Agriculture Department report says.

The report by John B. Parker of the agency's Economic Research Service says poor harvests last year have dropped per capita stocks of rice in Asia to the lowest levels in 30 years.

"As a result ... prices have skyrocketed and supplies in the few rice exporting countries— mainly the United States, Pakistan, Thailand, Burma and the People's Republic of China —have been almost fully committed," Parker said.

The report said the shortage could be relieved in November when most of Asia's rice farmers harvest their crops if monsoon rains return to normal this summer. In the meantime, Parker said, consumers have been switching to greater use of wheat, coarse grains and other alternative foods.

He said U.S. rice exports to Asia jumped 49 per cent last year to a record 1.453 million tons and will be strong again this year.

The report said Far East rice imports rose from 3.8 million tons in 1968 to 4.7 million tons in 1972 and probably would rise further this year if supplies were available.

Chevron orders 3 supertankers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Chevron Transport Corp., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of California, has arranged to acquire three very large crude carriers to be constructed by Mitsubishi heavy industries in Japan.

The tankers will be in the 400,000 deadweight-ton class and will be 1,200 feet long and will have a 74-foot draft, a spokesman said.

Their acquisition brings the number of very large tankers, ships with capacities exceeding 200,000 tons, operated by Chevron to 31.

McCall mulls whether to switch, fight

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI) — Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon is considering a switch from the Republican to the Democratic party to run against Sen. Robert Packwood in 1974.

"Democrats feel I would give them the best possibility they could have of defeating the junior senator from Oregon," McCall told newsmen Tuesday at the National Governors Conference.

"Lots of Democrats have asked me to come over. I'm considering going possibly to the Democratic party or becoming an independent."

Packwood, 40, the youngest Republican in the Senate, said in a telephone interview from Washington, "Tom has told me at least three times he would not be a candidate against me and I've known him a long time and his word always has been good and I see no reason to assume he'll go back on it now."

Except for Alabama Gov. George Wallace's brief switch from the Democratic to the American Independent Party in 1968 in order to run for president, there have been no instances in recent years of governors jumping parties.

"I am kind of an object of a tug of war that is very flattering and I'm not discouraging it," said McCall, 61.

McCall, who like Packwood is regarded as a GOP liberal, said New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has "asked me to stay on his side." Rockefeller is a potential candidate for the 1976 Republican presidential nomination.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., is encouraging him to defect to the Democrats, McCall said.

McCall said he has until Sept. 15 to decide whether to switch. That is the latest date he can change party registration and still run in the Democratic primary next May.

McCall's second term expires in January 1975. Under state law the governor cannot seek a third term.

Another channel oil slick--but this time it's nature

GOLETA, Calif. (UPI) — A new oil slick in the Santa Barbara Channel, scene of an ecological disaster four years ago, is apparently the work of nature, not man, and does not seem to threaten wildlife or beaches, authorities said Tuesday.

The 5-mile long slick was described as composed of a film of light oil, less menacing than the gooey crude that gushed up from an offshore oil rig in 1969 and led to a federal ban on drilling in the channel.

Divers went down 225 feet to the ocean bottom Tuesday and reported to the Coast Guard and state Fish and Game officials that crude oil and gas was seeping from a large number of natural holes about 1 ½ miles southwest of Coal Oil Point.

The divers said the seepage was comparatively slow and schools of anchovies and smelt and several seals in the area did not seem to be affected.

The massive blowout four years ago spewed more than 400,000 gallons of crude oil onto beaches and set the stage for a battle between environmentalists and oil companies.

The new light film of oil, which is drifting to the southeast, parallel to and slightly away from shore, is in a band varying from 150 to 200 yards wide and officials said there is no danger at present that it will reach the beach.

The slick was first spotted Monday by workers of Atlantic Richfield Co.'s Platform Holly, about a mile east of the source, off Coal Oil Point.

The area has a history of natural gas and oil seepage, which was noted by the early Spanish explorers, and both federal and state officials agreed Tuesday that the slick was not related to offshore oil operations.

Following a helicopter survey, officials reported the amount of oil on the surface had decreased somewhat from Monday

'Thou shalt not steal or tell lies'

Biblical Water Gate scandal

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — The Biblical version of the current political scandal occurred 2,500 years ago and featured politicians, clergy and citizens weeping and confessing their sins in front of the gate to Babylon. It was the Water Gate.

A contemporary translation of the Bible, called the Living Bible and published two years ago in Arlington, recounted the story.

"It all came about when the Jewish nation, after 70 years of captivity in Babylon, returned and rebuilt the ancient gates of their capital city. One of them was the Water Gate," scholars who wrote the Bible said.

"A mass meeting was convened at this gate to discuss the fact that the clergy, political leaders and average citizen alike were disobeying the laws God gave to Moses a thousand years earlier. Two of these same laws . . . 'Thou shalt not steal' and 'Thou shalt not lie' . . . have their counterpart in the current Watergate affair.

"In the earlier event the people broke out weeping and in confession when they realized how many of God's law they themselves had broken with their leaders."

The scholars said the confession in front of the Water Gate ended in political and moral reform. A celebration with gifts and feasting followed.

Chapters eight and nine in the Old Testament Book of Nehemiah of the Bible told the story.

"In mid-September," the Living Bible translation said, Living Bible translation said, "all the people assembled at the plaza in front of the Water Gate and requested Ezra, their religious leader, to read to them the law of God which He had given to Moses.

"So Ezra the priest brought out to them the scroll of Moses' laws. He stood on a wooden stand made especially for the occasion so that everyone could see him as he read. He faced the square in front of the Water Gate and read from early morning until noon."

Gate control theory

Acupuncture tells brain: ignore pain

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Montreal psychologist believes the mysterious Chinese art of acupuncture works to block pain by instructing the brain to "ignore" pain messages from the nervous system, according to an article in the June issue of Psychology Today.

Psychologist Ronald Melzack of McGill University suggested that acupuncture works through the "gate control theory of pain," much like such folk medicine remedies as mustard plasters and ice packs.

"The theory proposes that a gatelike mechanism exists in the pain-signaling system," Dr. Melzack said in the article. "The gate may be open, partially open, or closed so that in certain circumstances signals from injured tissues never get to the brain."

Dr. Mezack said he believes the key to acupuncture lies in the brainstem.

"The nerve impulse produced by twirling the needles, or sending electrical pulses through them, activate parts of the brainstem that block pain signals coming from the site of the surgery," he said.

"The signals never reach the parts of the brain involved in pain perception and response, and the surgeon is free to begin his work," Melzacf said.

The Chinese technique of pain control, which is centuries old but came to the attention of Americans after President Nixon's trip to China last year, also challenges a basic Western theory of pain—the so-called "specific theory."

This theory holds that pain is caused by a stimulus and is transmitted directly to the brain through the nervous system. The brain invariably perceives the stimulus as pain.

But according to Melzack, some nerves act to alter the brain's perception.

"Large fibers in the sensory nerves running from the body's surface to the central nervous system tend to 'close the gate' when stimulated, and thereby diminish the level of perceived pain," Melzack said. "Small fibers in the same nerves tend to transmit signals that open the gate and produce increased pain. Acupuncture needles, then, may stimulate the large fibers."

Dr. Melzack compared this process to the mustard plaster or ice pack. His theory is that a "counter-irritation," or pain which stimulates the large fibers, may cancel out a "pathological pain" like one caused by surgery or disease. The "counter-irritation" of the mustard plaster causes the large fibers to "close the gate" to pain throughout a large part of the body.

Heart palpitations do occur in space

HOUSTON (UPI) — Heart palpitations detected during Pete Conrad's workout on a bicycle exerciser aboard the Skylab space station are not an unusual occurrence in the astronaut corps.

Chief astronaut physician Dr. Royce Hawkins said Tuesday 30 to 40 per cent of the astronauts have experienced the same heart irregularity during periods of heavy exercise, including James Irwin and David Scott during the Apollo 15 moon landing flight.

Irwin experienced subsequent trouble, suffering a heart attack last spring while playing handball in Colorado. He is the only astronaut to have had a heart attack.

"We've seen this (palpitation) in other crewmen as well," Hawkins said. "It's just not that uncommon. It isn't that significant in itself that you get alarmed or worried about it."

In a private chat with Christopher C. Kraft, director of the Johnson Space Center, Conrad said he thought NASA doctors might be overly concerned about Conrad's health. They had detected "premature ventricular contraction" after he rode the exerciser early in the flight.

Hawkins said he thought Conrad "over-reacted" to the results of the first bicycle exerciser test and a request from doctors that he take another workout. The test results and request were teletyped to Skylab while the crew was asleep.

Space begins where the earth's atmosphere (air) is too thin to affect objects moving through it. It is usually said to begin about 100 miles above the earth.

Roastmaster General Joey Adams:

A Guide to Barbecuing Famous People

"In this era of masochistic comedy, our most famous personalities have accepted testimonials just to be carved to pieces by their 'friends.' The roast is the highest tribute you can give a guest of honor these days. Given the choice, show people would rather be rapped than ignored. You can always pick out actors by the glazed look that comes into their eyes when the conversation wanders away from themselves. [And] a smart politician knows that we only pick on giants."

Look for this funny collection of sharply barbed "zingers" — aimed by and at some of our most famous celebrities and renowned politicians — reported by the man whose many starring roles at benefit dinners have earned him the title "Roastmaster General."

But less explosive

China-Soviet rift quieter, deeper

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The rift between Moscow and Peking is quieter but deeper than ever, the State Department's ranking expert on Asian affairs believes.

"But it is less explosive," adds Marshal Green, former Assistant Secretary of State for East Asian and Pacific Affairs.

Green, the top State Department Asian expert for four years, made his observations to UPI just before leaving recently to become U.S. Ambassador to Australia.

Green noted that the Chinese and the Soviets no longer are trying to resolve their border and ideological disputes with military force. There are no more bloody border clashes such as those that stunned the world at the beginning of this decade.

Chinese officials in Peking recently told American news media the situation was so tense then that only American diplomatic efforts prevented a Soviet nuclear strike against China.

The Soviet Embassy here promptly labeled the Chinese statement as totally false. "Such a threat did not and does not exist," the Embassy said.

"The spreading of the above provocative assertions contradicts the facts and has nothing to do with the interests of international detente and of strengthening peace," the Embassy added.

Green said that despite the quiet on the Sino-Soviet border, tension between Moscow and Peking has deepened significantly. So far all efforts to resolve border and other disputes have been fruitless.

China is edgy about the forthcoming official visit of Soviet Communist Party Chief Leonid Brezhnev to the United States. Russia is uneasy about the detente between Washington and Peking, particularly the unusually cordial treatment being accorded Ambassador Huang Chen by the White House.

Green said that strong Soviet support for Bangladesh and continuing tensions between Pakistan, befriended by Peking, and India, backed by Moscow, have deepened suspicion between China and Russia.

Green foresaw no easy solution to the Sino-Soviet dispute in the foreseeable future.

Reviewing events in Asia during the past four years, Green said the U.S. could not afford to abandon Southeast Asia now that the Vietnam war was ended.

"We want to see the war concluded for all the people of the area," he said. "We don't just want to call for a basin of water and wash our hands of it."

Cambodia remains the unresolved problem in Indochina, he said. Any failure to resolve the problems there could threaten the entire Vietnam peace agreement.

Green said North Vietnam was still determined to pursue its goal of dominating the Indochina area. But "I believe that Hanoi will seek to achieve its goal by political measures rather than military measures." He added that "I think the government of South Vietnam has a very good chance of surviving."

Green predicted that Southeast Asia would remain a world trouble spot in the near future. "This is sort of the Balkans of Asia. The countries concerned there have been up against great odds."

"We have learned a great deal from our Vietnam experience," Green said. "It has been a very sobering experience."

Green said the three lessons the U.S. learned in Vietnam are:

—"That we should base our policies on realistic and practical positions, not legalities;"

—"We should get away from ideological conflict;"

—"We have come to see the merits in dialogue with everyone, including adversaries."

Mother's heartbeat helps reduce crying in infants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — When a mother picks up her baby, she's most likely to hold the infant on her left side — closest to her heart.

And there's a very practical reason, suggests psychologist Lee Salk, why 80 per cent of mothers cuddle their youngsters on that side.

Newborn babies are soothed, he says, by the sound of their mothers' heartbeat — possibly because the beat is the most prominent sound they heard before birth and reminds them of the serenity of the womb.

Salk, clinical professor of psychology in pediatrics at Cornell University Medical College, reports in "Scientific American" that a series of experiments by himself and other researchers confirm the left side preference and the soothing nature of a normal human heartbeat.

"To find out if a mother's tendency to hold her baby near her heart is congruent with the baby's need, I set up an experiment in which newborn infants were exposed to a recorded normal adult heartbeat sound," he writes.

The weight change, food intake and amount of crying of newborn infants in a hospital nursery where the beat thumped night and day were compared with those of babies in the same nursery without the heartbeat sound.

Salk reports that 70 per cent of the infants exposed to the beat gained weight between the first and fourth days of life, compared to 33 per cent of the control group. The median gain of the heartbeat group was 40 grams, compared to a median loss of 20 grams in the control group. There was no significant difference in food intake.

The crying measure consisted of the percentage of time one or more infants were heard crying on tape recordings, which were turned on automatically for 30 seconds each seven minutes.

Salk says there was crying 38 per cent of the time in the heartbeat group and 60 per cent in the silent group. The nursery averaged nine infants at any one time.

"These results suggest that newborn infants are soothed by the sound of the normal adult heartbeat," he says.

FTC expecting report on energy crisis by July 1

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) said today it hopes to have an initial report by the first of July on an investigation of whether the oil industry helped manufacture the "energy crisis."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, had demanded last week that FTC Chairman Lewis A. Engman expedite an inquiry to see if there was a "contrived effort" by the petroleum industry to create gasoline shortages.

Engman replied to Jackson Wednesday in a letter: "I have asked the staff to report its findings to me no later than July 1, and the commission will certainly endeavor to provide you with the information which you seek as soon as possible."

The Senate voted 86 to 10 Tuesday to require President Nixon to set up mandatory government fuel allocation regulations and impose them whenever he determined that any energy resource was in short supply. The prime aim is to ease a gas shortage in some areas, especially the Midwest.

Jackson said the vote was evidence of "a new mood of urgency" in Congress to do something about the problem.

In a related development, the Justice Department filed suit in U.S. District Court in Washington on behalf of the FTC to prod nine big oil companies to back up their claims that there is a shortage of reserves of natural gas.

The FTC has been trying to discover whether the companies tried to win a price increase by manipulating their reports on how much gas had been discovered.

The Federal Power Commission granted the industry a 73 per cent increase last week in the wellhead price of natural gas.

Dollar plunge blamed on a changing world, as well as Watergate

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Pressure on the U.S. dollar in European money markets is being blamed in part at least on the disclosures of the Watergate scandal, but as much as anything else it reflects the uncertainties of a world in the midst of change.

Among the changes is the new relationship to be forged between the United States and the enlarged European common market.

Another concerns doubts over the continuing role the United States is to play in NATO, the key alliance for the defense of Europe.

Intertwined is the question of world monetary reform to be undertaken this September when the International Monetary Fund holds it annual meeting in Nairobi.

And, finally, linked to the question of monetary reform are trade negotiations also scheduled to begin in September.

Something of all of these are part of the current crisis.

But for immediate purposes the chief culprit is the so-called Eurodollar, which in the hands of money managers, international business firms, Arabian oil countries and others moves back and forth across Europe in a vast tide.

There are between 95 and 100 billion of the Eurodollars in circulation, representing more than the total gold reserves of the world's nations.

As the U.S. balance of payments deficit mounted, so too did world distrust of the U.S. ablity to manage its own economic affairs. As doubts increased, the holders of Eurodollars sought shelter elsewhere, first in other currencies and now in gold.

Among the 125 nations represented in the International Monetary Fund (IMF) there is agreement that reform is necessary but wide disagreement, especially among the rich nations, as to how it should be accomplished.

The United States has proposed that a beginning be made under a "New Atlantic Charter" which would be signed at a summit meeting this fall during President Nixon's visit to Eruope.

It would set up a philosophical base linking questions of economics, security and monetary reform.

The strongest of the Common Market nations, Germany, France and Britain, have rejected it either as unnecessary or unworkable, insisting that the three issues are separate problems and must be settled separately.

The French are suspicious that the real U.S. aim is to take advantage of the fact the Common Market is not yet ready to speak with a single voice on all issues.

Of special U.S. concern are the barriers erected by the market against U.S. agriculture. The French declare the matter is non-negotiable.

But of greatest immediate concern to Europeans is the unwanted Eurodollar.

One suggestion has been that the United States take some 40 or 50 billion of them off the market in exchange for bonds payable perhaps by the year 2,000. Another has been that they be invested in U.S. industry.

Whatever the solution is to be, it is a pre-requisite to monetary reform. Failure to achieve reform is to call up the spectre of the breadlines that formed when the world monetary system broke down in the 1930s.

Shifter and Hamilton vows are exchanged

Central Baptist Church of Pomona was the setting for the afternoon wedding of Miss Connie Hamilton of Pomona and Baron Shifter of Diamond Bar. The Rev. Ray Batema officiated at the double-ring rites.

MRS. BARON SHIFTER

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hamilton of Pomona. The groom is the son of the Glenn Shifters of Diamond Bar.

Escorted to the altar by her father the bride paid tribute to her parents by presenting her mother with a single red rose and her father with a kiss before joining the groom.

A gown of white eyelet embroidery was worn by the bride and was fashioned with a high sweetheart neckline and an empire waist. A train edged with tiny ruffle was attached to the dress at the waist with a bow. Yellow daisies trimmed the cuffs of the long sleeves and ruffle of the gown which was designed and made by the bride's mother. The former Miss Hamilton carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and white daisies.

Mrs. Geniece Reinsvold of Beaumont served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Janet Milbaurer of Pomona and Mrs. Stephanie Workman of Fountain Valley. Ronda Hamilton, the bride's niece, was the junior bridesmaid.

Nieces of the bride, Michelle and Stacey Hamilton were flower girl and ring bearer.

Standing as best man for the groom was Bob Rawlings Jr. of Diamond Bar. Ushers were Dennis Taylor and Scott Shifter, brother of the groom. Doug Root was the junior usher.

The newlyweds greeted guests at a reception at the church. Following a honeymoon in Palm Springs, the couple will reside in Pomona.

Mr. Shifter is a senior at UCLA and will report to the Air Navy Reserve this summer.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton and son of Healdsburg, brother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Westfall of Ridgecrest and Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Allen of Park Hill, Okla., aunts and uncles of the bride.

Wedding scheduled in July

Mr and Mrs. John B. O'Rourke of Pomona announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen Ann, to Philip Arthur Barrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Barrett of Pomona.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Pomona Catholic Girls High School and of California State Polytechnic University. He is presently a graduate student at Cal Poly.

Mr. Barrett graduated from Don Bosco Technical High School and California State Polytechnic University. He is presently working on his master's degree in mechanical engineering at Cal State, Los Angeles. He is employed as a design engineer in Montebello. He is a Marine reservist at El Toro Marine Air Base.

The wedding will take place July 7.

Ask Doctor Brothers

Marriage might fail?

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My boyfriend and I are still in school but I'm very anxious to get married. He doesn't seem as anxious because he's English and has a lot of foolish ideas about Americans. We met while I was studying in England and we've known each other for six weeks. I know marriage is what I want out of life and that he is the perfect person for me. He's also afraid of marriage (although he loves me) because both his parents were divorced and he says that means he's probably apt to fall into the same pattern.—T.S.

Dear T. S.: In order for a marriage to work it takes work and it is definitely a team effort. If your boyfriend enters into the relationship with less enthusiasm than you and if he is pressured into marriage, there are bound to be problems. Chances are that the first time there are difficulties (and there are bound to be during the first year) if he had been hesitant he is going to regret getting married, he's going to feel trapped and he'll blame you because you were more enthusiastic than he.

I think even if this young man were ready for marriage with all the special problems that are entailed when both partners are still in school, it would still be wrong for you at this time. I say this because, from your letter, you seem to have some rather adolescent, romantic views that indicate you, yourself, may not yet be ready.

In our culture there are often strong pressures to marry at an early age before either partner is ready to establish a meaningful relationship. The ability to love maturely does not happen overnight, it takes time and it must be developed slowly. Six weeks is a very brief time to know someone and even if you saw him every moment during that period, it is unlikely you would know each other well enough to be ready to share the rest of your lives together.

Statistics indicate that children from happy homes and happy marriages tend to have a better chance of having a successful marriage, but this doesn't mean that all children of divorced parents are automatically going to have the same problems and failures their parents had. As a matter of fact, they may have learned a great deal from the mistakes of their parents and may be much more mature than their parents.

I don't know exactly what "foolish ideas" your friend has about Americans, but it might interest him to know that a British psychologist did an 8-year study of anxiety levels in 18 industrialized areas. He found that Americans were surprisingly well adjusted and had what he called only a "middle" level of anxiety. He rated nations into three categories—high, middle and low anxiety levels and found that Americans had a higher anxiety level than the British, who fell in the lowest anxiety level.

If you want to get to know this young man better, don't pressure him into making any decisions right now. Relax, get to know each other, and take your time. You'll be much more successful and you'll both be much happier.

Camp Fire luncheon scheduled

The annual recognition luncheon of Palomares District, Mt. San Antonio Council Camp Fire Girls, is planned Wednesday noon at Trinity United Methodist Church, 676 N. Gibbs St.

The salad bar luncheon honors the many volunteers who have given significant time, talent and other resource help to the Camp Fire program in the past year.

The highlight will be a "sneak preview" of the new Camp Fire enrichment program prepared and narrated by Mrs. Jane Morgan.

The luncheon chairman, Mrs. Ernestine Pitts, will be assisted by Mrs. Linda Byrnes. Mrs. Pat Caro, district vice president of Camp Fire, will be the master of ceremonies for the afternoon.

All parents, sponsors, leaders and friends are invited to share in honoring the volunteers.

First degree

The School of Hotel Administration at Cornell University will offer a Master of Professional Studies degree in Hotel Administration starting this fall. This is the first such professional degree to be offered in America.

Sun shades

A sunglass company for spring introduces shades called auto-flips. These are sunglasses especially designed for drivers. They feature polarized lenses that can easily be lifted up and down to compensate for sudden shifts of light while the frames remain in place on the head. With the flip-up feature, the polarized lenses soften glare from the sun and shiny metal objects, yet can be flipped up with a finger to avoid tunnel darkness.

Different

Know the difference between campsites and campgrounds? A campground in national parks and generally in most other public and private places contains improvements such as piped water, sanitary facilities, outdoor fireplaces and such. A campsite is any spot suitable for setting up a tent. It may be in a campground or it may be in any undeveloped place.

Taylor-Edwards rites solemnized in church

Double-ring rites at the First Baptist Church of Pomona united in marriage Miss Ruthann Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen Edwards of Ontario, and Scott Taylor, son of Mrs. Barbara Taylor of Pomona.

Officiating at the nuptial ceremony were Dr. Edward B. Cole and the Rev. Keith Korstjens.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza fashioned with a lace bodice and sleeves. Seed pearls accented the gown.

Mrs. Janet Kreps was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Terri Dennise Kreps, Georgia Edwards, Barbara Essells, Debby Carter and Vicki Schmidt.

The bride's nephew, Steve Kreps, was the ring bearer, and her niece, Kristi Edwards, was the flower girl. Lighting the candles were Linda Taylor and Wayne Taylor, sister and brother of the groom.

John D. Edwards stood as best man and the groom chose Dan Carter, Jim Berkley, John Eynan, Wayne Taylor, Greg Kreps and George Price as ushers.

A reception in the church followed the ceremony. The couple is now residing at Azusa Pacific College where the groom is a junior majoring in music. The bride is employed as a LVN at San Antonio Community Hospital.

Liberator

Something called the lid liberator unlocks tight screw caps on jars, on sealed bottles, cans, and even medicine bottles, according to the distributor. It has no moving parts and adjusts automatically to size of twist cap. That's the claim.

Sunglasses

Correct sunglasses are not only a fashion plus but a health must. Too much direct sun may be harmful to the eyes.

Loves found a way to cut the wedding bill

NEW YORK (UPI) — When it came time for the recessional at the wedding of Neal Love and his bride Carole one Valentine Day past, the organist swung out with "There's No Business Like Show Business."

It happened in an old Episcopal church in Fairfield, Conn. The bride and bridegroom wore shoes and all the formal trappings. This was no wedding with mod overtones.

The Loves — and shouldn't they have been married on Valentine Day with a name like that? — had throughout their wedding music from hit musicals, including "The Sound of Music." Love himself, a composer who has a musical opening in London next fall, wrote one of the pieces.

The wedding cake wasn't usual either. It was white-iced fruitcake. And no bride and bridegroom statues atop it. Instead, there was a toy piano with a toy musician playing it. A coy, toy gal, with her knees crossed, sat on the piano and flirted with the musician.

The Loves had what is becoming increasingly popular — a theme wedding. "Our theme," Mrs. Love said in an interview, "was composing — which is what my husband does and wants to do more than anything."

They live in Crownspoint, Md., now but are on the road a lot as is demanded by their company, Wedgewood Productions, designers and producers of conventions. In between, he composes.

Mrs. Love, a native of Hampton, Iowa, says she and her husband of Goshen, Conn., in the last year staged conventions in Hawaii, Bermuda, Dallas, New York, Las Vegas, Houston, San Francisco and many other places. She said they used some of that convention know-how to stage their theme wedding — and also to do it on what today is a shoestring budget — $2,000, including reception for 150 persons, dresses and suit rentals, and plane fare from Connecticut for members of Mrs. Love's family.

The song Love wrote for the wedding is called "The Moment of Love." It starts: "You hear a voice, you see a smile, you try to speak as though your versatile, but you wind up acting juvenile but it's real." (Copyright 1970 by C. R. Love III).

Between convention plannings he called from Washinton, where his office is, and sang it to me. It sounded nice and romantic. At the same time, Love told me Robert Rounseville is going to play the lead in his musical, "A Magnificent Thing To Be," when it opens in London in November.

Timetable adds up to serenity

NEW YORK (UPI) — There are no guarantees but the following timetable is supposed to help he bride-to-be to get through the pre-wedding period without flattened nerves. The countdown begins three months before the wedding. If you wish to follow the plan, make yourself a three month calendar on a huge poster board. Ink in the timetable. Cross off with red when a chore is accomplished. That way, you will be able to take a quick look and know just where you stand.

THREE MONTHS BEFORE. Decide upon the type of wedding, formal or informal. Talk to the clergyman and arrange church details Make up a guest list, consulting with the bridegroom's family. Make arrangements for wedding reception, catering and music. Choose the persons for the bridal party. Order the gown and select what bridesmaids will wear. Select silver pattern as well as china and crystal. Register choices with jeweler or department store. Decide on decor and furnishings for the lovenest you'll be occupying.

TWO MONTHS BEFORE. Order invitations, announcements and personal stationery; buy now what you will need and use for your trousseau. Set date for wedding rehearsal and arrange for rehearsal supper.

ONE MONTH TO GO. Address and mail invitations. Buy gifts for attendants and bridegroom. Make plans for luncheon for your attendants. Drop the word that this is a good period for showers. Finish shopping for lingerie, linens and household furnishings. Check on outfits for the bridal party. Have the wedding gown fitted. Make arrangements with photographer, having him present at final fitting to take pictures in time for delivery to the newspapers.

DURING THE WEEKS LEADING UP TO THE WEDDING. You and the bridegroom order the wedding rings. Also: go together to apply for the marriage license and have necessary pre-marital medical examinations. Remind bridegroom to order boutonnieres and flowers for the wedding party and for your mother and his. Consult with the caterer about reception menu and cake. Arrange accommodations for out of town guests.

ONE WEEK BEFORE THE WEDDING. Send announcement to the newspaper. Include the formal portrait taken at your final bridal fitting. Check with the paper to see if the picture and announcement are needed sooner. Check on arrival of gowns, trousseau items. Make a beauty shop appointment for wedding hairdo. Have bridesmaids' luncheon. Put your gifts on display. Pack uncrunchables when you have free time. Spend leisure time, if any, with your family.

THE DAY BEFORE: Tell someone your honeymoon plans, and arrange to have someone check your new home while you are gone. Go to the hairdressers early and then to wedding rehearsal and dinner. Check luggage again. Go to bed early.

P.S. — Some young men and young women have a simple way to avoid all of the foregoing. They elope.

Haineses celebrate anniversary

LA VERNE — Celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary on Saturday will be Mr. and Mrs. Orville Haines. They will be honored by their children at a family gathering at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Haines came to La Verne in 1914 from Leesburg, Indiana, where they were married the previous year. He was a barber for 55 years until his retirement in 1969. He was an active volunteer firemen for many years and is now on the retired roster.

Show and sell

NEW YORK (UPI) — Show and Sell is a store in downtown Manchester, N.H. It features only new items handmade by senior citizens.

Cash reimbursements for goods sold are made every Thursday. Traditionally, Thursday is payday throughout the city. This day was chosen to pay the show and sell folks to recreate in them the role they had held during their working days.

Indian shirts

Gauze and muslin Indian shirts have caught on in men's fashions. They vary from the classic man-tailored to baseball to western styles.

Bridal expenses

Who pays for what?

Whether it's a traditional wedding with white gown, bridesmaids, cake and champagne, or a barefoot-in-the-meadow, poetry reading affair; it's always the father of the bride who's left with the emptiest purse. When his little girl grows up, Dad's bank account does the reverse! But he can find some small comfort in knowing that others have gone his route, and survived. And anyway, Dad, you really don't pay for it all. It just seems that way! Look at the breakdown of expenses in a modern wedding as compiled by the Jewelry Industry Council:

THE BRIDE

1. Her trousseau.
2. Wedding ring for her bridegroom.
3. Wedding gift for her groom (optional).
4. Presents for her attendants.
5. Accommodations for her attendants.
6. Personal stationery and calling cards.
7. Her medical examination.
8. If she is financially independent, the bride may assume any other of her family's traditional responsibilities.

THE BRIDEGROOM

1. Bride's engagement and wedding rings.
2. The marriage license.
3. Gift for the bride.
4. His medical examination.
5. Bride's bouquet and going-away corsage.
6. Boutonnieres for men of wedding party.
7. Flowers for the two mothers.
8. Gloves, ascots or ties for the men in the wedding party
9. Gifts for his ushers and best man.
10. Accommodations for his best man and ushers.
11. Fee for the clergyman.
12. The wedding trip.
13. Flowers to the bride's mother after the wedding, accompanied by a warm, thank-you note.

THE BRIDE'S FAMILY

1. Wedding invitations and enclosure cards.
2. Announcements.
3. Engagement and wedding photographs.
4. Rental for church.
5. Fees for the organist, soloist and sexton.
6. Aisle carpet.
7. Flowers for church.
8. Bridemaids' bouquets and flower headdress.
9. Gratuity for traffic policemen.
10. Transportation for bridal party from house to church and to the reception.
11. Bridesmaids' luncheon.
12. Entire cost of the reception.

THs BRIDEGROOM'S FAMILY

1. Clothes they wear to the wedding.
2. Any traveling expenses and hotel bills.
3. Wedding gift for the bride and bridegroom.
4. The dineer preceding or following the wedding rehearsal can be given by either the bride or bridegroom's family.

Shirt dress

The shirt dress is the style for summer. It's a loose, cool way to dress for warm weather.

Senior interns

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eighty-four Connecticut senior citizens participated in the start of a Senior Intern Program in the nation's capital a while back.

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., of Connecticut, originator of the plan, says its objective is "to get old people off the curio shelf and into the cockpit where the action is."

Change color

If you're thinking of changing your hair color, perhaps a professional should be the one to do it. Be especially careful during summer when it is wise to protect hair from the sun, since the rays can turn a soft, pretty color into a brassy-looking one.

NOW 6 CONVENIENT CARPET CENTERS TO SERVE YOU

LET'S ASK THE COOK
by Nan Wiley

"DEAR NAN:

"Remember me, your pen pal from Topeka? Bless your meat cutter for being honest with you. Those sides and halves of beef sound so tempting and economical. My dad did his own butchering for his shop so I have always known how much complete waste there is.

"Years ago the Kansas City Star had a front page story and pictures of a meat block in court. A man had bought a side of beef, weighed his packaged meat when he got home, found he had an awful lot less than the original weight. A wise judge had two men from Kansas State University, along with an expert meat cutter, watch every move. He cut, discarded, explained, ended up with even less than the angry man had counted.

"Whatever the weekend meat special is, the Bishop's are eating it. I cook and freeze a lot and can feed 40 any time you give me two hours thawing time. When chicken breasts are on sale, I buy 20 pounds, cook them slowly in the oven, then place them in casseroles, ready to serve from five to 10, with any extras I choose to add.

"When the beautiful Japanese permissions get a little soft, the price is reduced so I buy, wash and blenderize a few seconds, then freeze the pulp for permissons pudding. The whole family likes it hot with cold whipped cream. My retired husband surprised me by bringing home 96 permismons all at once.

"My older son raves about my pickle brisket. I buy the brisket when it is on sale, and carefully trim off all fat. Then I add a box of pickling spice, a whole bottle of liquid smoke and 1 cup water. Cover and cook for a long time in a very slow oven. When it is cooled, I go back to the store where I got it, they slice half of it thin, the rest ultra thin. Our grandchildren love Reuben sandwiches.

"My all-time multi-purpose favorite meat is Canadian bacon. Most people slice and fry it, but I never do. Since it is dry and almost fat-free I simmer it gently in cold water to cover. This returns some of the moisture. It is wonderful sliced hot or cold."

George and Lillian Bishop
Topeka, Kansas.

What a gold mine of information you are, dear Lillian. Glad to hear you are still perking right along.

If the rest of you will recall, when we bought our stand-up freezer our favorite meat cutter said we could save more if we bought on-sale items any time he or anyone else featured them. We surely have. It is a delight to pull out roasts, steaks, chops or whatever, find them marked 30 cents to 50 cents per pound cheaper than they are at this date.

Few kitchen jobs are more rewarding than "doing up" your own pickles and Nan Wiley tells you how in her booklet "Old Time Pickles, Preserves, and Such." To obtain your booklet send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Nan Wiley in care of Progress-Bulletin, Register and Tribune Syndicate, 715 Locust St., Des Moines, Iowa, 50304.

Silent thief

NEW YORK (UPI) — Is a silent leak running up your water bill? A silent toilet leak can send thousands of gallons of water down the drain without anyone knowing it. The people at the American Water Works Association say there is an easy way to find out if you have one.

The recommend putting a few drops of food coloring in the tank. If there is a leak, the color will appear in the toilet bowl. The trouble may be a worn out washer in the toilet's inlet valve, a discharge stopper that is defective or off-center, or an overflow pipe that has rotted at the base.

Installment

LONDON (UPI)— Installment plan buyers in Britain owed more than 2 billion pounds ($5 billion) at the end on 1972, the Department of Trade and Industry reports. It said installment buying jumped 27 per cent during 1972.

An opal ring

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: I bought my fiancee an opal ring, but she says it is unlucky for anyone not born in October to wear one. I tell her this is completely out of date. She said to ask you.—L. R., Medford, Ore."

In a recent issue of Clipper (published by Pan Am) was an interestiing article on "How to Buy Your Opals" by Joan Kerr. The superstition concerning the bad luck of wearing opals unless it is your birthstone cropped up in the 19th century as the result of Sir Walter Scott's fanciful novel, "Ann of Geierstein." In it the heroine wore a lustrous opal in her hair that mirrored her every mood. When she was happy, the stone glowed. When she was angry, it became fiery red.

The Elizabethans, wrote Miss Kerr, were great admirers of the opal. Shakespeare called it "this miracle . . . the queen of gems" ("Twelfth Night"). The ancient Greeks believed that opals gave the power of prophecy to their owners.

Queen Victoria was very brave. She is said to have destroyed the superstition by wearing opals and given them to her five daughters, thus helping, by the way, the newly founded Australian opal mines.

Presently, opals are very fashionable, particularly in America. According to the article, in 1970 and 1971, the opal was the most popular stone in a poll which covered some 300 jewelers nationally. It was also among the five best sellers in seven varying price categories.

Tell your girl to forget the old superstition and wear the lovely stonne.

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: I have attended quite a few wedding ceremonies and at teach and every one, where the bride wore a veil, the bride's veil was lifted back from her face by the chief attendant at the beginning of the ceremony. The man giving the bride away escorted her down the aisle and kissed her on the cheek after the veil had been lifted and smoothed out. The bride then took the arm of her groom and the wedding continued. — Y. G., Matawan, N.J."

The old idea that the groom should be the first to kiss the bride after the ceremony is frequently not followed. I have noted for a number of years—and commented upon the fact—that the father often kisses his daughter at the altar.

At one Catholic wedding I attended, the father did so just before the bride approached the priest and bridegroom, for there is no "giving away" ceremony in the Roman Catholic procedure. At a Protestant ceremony, the father kissed his daughter after the "giving away" portion of the ceremony was completed and just before he stepped back to join the bride's mother in the first pew.

Recently, the wife of a clergyman wrote me that her husband feels it is more meaningful for the groom to lift the bride's veil for the optional kiss at the altar than for the bride's chief attendant to do so, and he so instructs his parishioners.

When the receiving line forms at the back of the church, there is always a kiss at the altar between bride and bridegroom, even though the bride has been kissed "goodby" by her father or someone acting for him. When the reception is at another location, often there is no altar kiss as bride and groom presumably prefer this first nuptial kiss in the privacy of the limousine which will bear them to the reception.

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: I say no one is supposed to try on a girl's engagement ring and also that the future bride is not obligated to pay for the bridesmaids' gowns. My friends don't agree with me. Who is correct?—M.L., Jersey City, N.J."

You are right about the ring. And today the bride is certainly not obligated to pay for the bridesmaids' gowns, although she may if money is no object.

West's play aids bidder

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim: "If West opened a club against South's diamond slam the chances are that South would have gone right up with dummy's ace of clubs. After that start the slam would be doomed to defeat. West didn't give South that problem because he opened the three of trumps. East played his eight."

Oswald: "Just looking at the North and South hands the best percentage play is for South to lay down his ace of diamonds at trick two. If he drops the king he is only worried about an overtrick. If it turns out that East started with three diamonds South plays a third diamond. East will win with the king and eventually South will have to decide how to avoid the loss of a spade."

Jim: "If South does that and West is the man with three diamonds and East shows out, what should South do now?"

Oswald: "In that case South's correct play is to play his ace and king of spades to see if he can drop the queen. If it doesn't fall he tries the club finesse. This risks a two-trick set but gives him his best play for the slam."

Jim: "Your play also turns out to be the winner. It also is the correct line since it gives declarer chances in both black suits to pick up the trick he needs."

Must find ninth trick

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South had no trouble counting up eight tricks. They were right there for the taking. The ninth might be around somewhere, but there was no apparent place that it could come from.

He ducked the first two hearts as a matter of general practice. A third heart was led and East splattered on the 10 of clubs.

All of a sudden, South had some hope. He won that third heart; led a diamond to dummy and played the seven of clubs. East covered with the eight and was allowed to hold the trick.

A club was led back and South was back on lead with his ninth trick right in sight provided West held both the queen and jack of spades.

South led the 10 of spades with every intention of letting it ride, but West covered with the queen.

South won in dummy and cashed the rest of the diamonds. West had to throw a heart up on the last diamond whereupon South threw him in with the last heart to force West to lead a spade and give South that ninth trick.

Expert sees possibilities

By Oswald & James Jacoby

One major difference between an expert and an average player is that the expert sees all sorts of possibilities that the average player overlooks.

The average player would look over dummy; see that there was no apparent way to avoid the loss of a heart trick. Then he would draw trumps; lead his queen of hearts and hope that West would hold the king and not cover.

The expert would see two legitimate ways to make the grand slam. The way it works this time is for South to play a few rounds of trumps; cash dummy's ace of hearts; run off all his black cards and eventually make his 13th trick with his queen of hearts or one of dummy's small diamonds, depending on what poor East, who was dealt five diamonds and the king of hearts, is holding onto at the finish.

The way that doesn't work is for South to play dummy's ace and king of diamonds ruff a third diamond and then run off his black cards in the same manner. This play would have worked if West held the king of hearts and at least four diamonds.

Which line of play is the better one? The one that works, because it will bring home the contract against five diamonds and the king of hearts in either the East or West hand. The other line can only squeeze West.

New category means 'nothing'

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — A bill establishing a separate statistical category for persons who have had their sex changed has been approved by the state Senate Health Committee.

Dr. Forest Ludden of the state Public Health Department said currently persons who have had sex change operations "are nothing" to the state.

Black woman new mayor

COMPTON (UPI) — Black City Clerk Doris Davis was elected mayor Tuesday, unseating incumbent Douglas F. Dollarhide by more than a 1,000-vote margin.

With votes from all 34 of the city's precincts counted, Mrs. Davis received 6,063 votes to 4,867 for Dollarhide.

In other races in the municipal run-off election, incumbent City Councilman Wilson Buckner was returned to his seat in Distrct 2 and Walter Tucker was elected to the council in District 3.

Wesley Sanders Jr. unseated incumbent Treasurer Gerald L. Chapman and Charles Davis, a contract administrator, was elected city clerk.

Voters in the Glendale Community College District and the Claremont Unified School District both passed measures increasing maximum tax rates.

Sad story for Padres

The plight of the San Diego Padres is sad.

It appears like the great and healthy game of baseball has done it in, playing musical chairs with human beings and cities.

They are saying San Diego can't support major league baseball. If that's the case, why put an expansion team there in the first place?

I would think the people who run baseball could have seen San Diego's natural problem. The city is located between Mexico, the ocean, Los Angeles and the desert and the Padres had a relatively small market area.

It was a poor choice in the beginning.

But moving teams around doesn't improve anything. Washington, D.C., hasn't been known as a great baseball city, but the nation's capital will soon be home to its third major league franchise.

It's true the citizens of San Diego didn't exactly knock the doors down to see the Padres but why should they? In their five years of existence, the Padres have never risen above last place. The season has been over by the Fourth of July.

Chronic loser

I can't understand how owners can claim it is a civic duty to support a chronic loser.

In the Padres' case, the team was burdened with high expansion fees and was in a vicious financial circle trying to stay above water.

Because of the tight money situation, the Padres couldn't afford quality players. As a result, the team hasn't been improving and the fans have found better things to do in the wonderful outdoors world of San Diego.

But has the attendance at San Diego been that bad? Would you believe the Padres are driwing at near the same rate as the first-place San Francisco Giants and are above the Atlanta Braves.

Downward trend

Even the attendance at Dodger Stadium is down more than 200,000 this spring. Last Sunday's Oldtimers Game drew only 34,000 paid customers, a downward trend from the first two annual festivities.

Baseball is struggling. There must be at least a dozen teams looking at New Orleans' big Superdome and there are some glances at Seattle's new dome. Yes, Seattle will get a second chance.

The Braves and Oakland A's are two of the teams considering new homes. Both of them are finding their welcome in their third city growing short.

Moving teams no longer means instant success. In former days, a club would get a big parade downtown and be treated like kings The Texas Rangers didn't receive the same sort of greeting last year.

Baseball is beginning to look like the American Basketball Association with the game of musical cities.

'Too much,' says Gabe

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Roman Gabriel plot has thickened with the Los Angeles Ram quarterback now charging that the Rams' management is asking too much in its trade talks with the Philadelphia Eagles.

In a lengthy written statement released Thursday Gabriel said he has learned that the Rams are asking for two first-round draft choices, an All-Pro player and three other Eagle starters.

"It's simply untrue," replied Rams owner Carroll Rosenbloom.

"All I told (Gabriel's attorney) Ed Masry was that I would try to make a fair trade with the Eagles," said General Manager Don Klosterman.

Gabriel and Masry visited Philadelphia last week and conferred with the Eagles' brass, and Masry said "we aren't anxious to get on another plane and travel to another city."

"We went to Philadelphia with Mr. Rosenbloom's consent," the lawyer said, "and the Rams said they would do their best to make a trade for Gabriel."

Gabriel said in the statement that "the Eagles have offered the Rams most of what they have asked for but cannot meet the Ram demands in total."

ADDING TO THE COLLECTION

Greg Ballard added another award to his collection Wednesday night when he was presented Stickel Award.

Singer enjoys batting help

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

ANAHEIM — Bill Singer, the pride of Diamond Bar, is on his way to a 20-victory season. Maybe even 30 at the pace he is setting.

But Bullet Bill was disgusted with himself after recording his 10th victory of the campaign in a 7-4 decision over the Detroit Tigers at Anaheim Stadium Wednesday night.

Givenan early 5-0 lead, Singer sailed through the first six innings, allowing only a double to Ed Brinkman in the third frame.

But Singer never got through the seventh inning. After Duke Sims hit a two-run homer and Dick McAuliffe singled, manager Bobby Winkles called for relief specialist Dave Sells, who earned the save.

"I had good stuff tonight," Singer said. "I had a big lead but I wasted it."

With a 10-2 record on June 7, Singer is well ahead of his pace in any of his yaars with the Los Angeles Dodgers. Even in his 20-win season in 1969, he didn't record his 10th until July 1.

"Im getting runs like never before," Singer said. "This is the first time in my career that I'm the guy who's getting the runs on the staff. There's always one pitcher like that and it's never been me before."

With five strikeouts, Singer is up to 102 for the season, second only to teammate Nolan Ryan, who closes the series tonight.

Maybe it was the new white shoes which did the job.

"Bill Singer thinks they're neat," Winkles said. "Besides, maybe they might change our luck."

According to Winkles, only pitching coach Tom Morgan voted against the switch.

The Angels have been fortunate. Despite losing nine of their previous 13 games, they didn't lose any ground in the American League West standings.

With Wednesday's win and Chicago's fifth consecutive loss, the Halos climbed to two games of first place.

Sandy Alomar broke out of his season-long batting slump in providing Singer with all the runs he needed.

The second baseman, whose 648 consecutive game streak ended in Chicago two weeks ago, feels the rest has helped him.

"I guess being stronger from sitting out helps," Alomar said. "If I have to take a rest and I can help the club on the bench, fine. We have a good chance to finish in the money."

Hitting .192 entering Wednesday's game— his first starting assignment in a week — Alomar had three hits, including a triple in the second inning, to knock Detroit starter Joe Coleman (10-3) out early.

The Angels piled up nine hits against four Tiger pitchers with six different players knocking in runs.

Vada Pinson provided the long ball with his third home run of the season in the fifth inning to KO Coleman.

Sells earned his fourth save of the season even though he gave up a homer to Willie Horton in the ninth inning. It was the first earned run scored against Sells in 14 games.

ANGEL NOTES — Ryan (6-6) hasn't been as fortunate as Singer in getting offensive support. He will face Detroit's Woody Fryman (2-5) in tonight's finale of the series . . .

The Milwaukee Brewers visit the Big A over the weekend with Jerry Bell (5-6) facing Clyde Wright (3-7) Friday. Singer will go for his 11th win in Sunday afternoon's contest . . .

The first of two Teen Nights is on tap Friday with Bo Donaldson and The Heywoods in a pre-game show beginning at 7:15 p.m. Teenagers may purchase tickets on the view level for $1 . . .

Sunday is the Angels' annual Disneyland Fun Day with fans able to purchase combination tickets for the game and the amusement park . . .

Hot Pants Day is coming up on Sunday, June 17. Ladies in hot pants will be admitted free when accompanied by a paid admission. The Halos host the Yankees that day in a doubleheader . . .

Alan Gallagher has a six-game hitting streak. Royal Oak High product Rudy Meloi has hit safely in 15 of the 22 games since becoming a regular.

Elks honor Garey High star

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Even with all the publicity and attention he has been getting during the past year, Greg Ballard still remains quiet and modest.

The Garey High mid-term graduate who did almost everything any one athlete could do in three years of high school participation had one more honor bestowed upon him Wednesday night at the Pomona Elks Lodge.

It was the Russ Stickel Award, reserved for the high school senior who best exemplified the Ganesha High graduate who died of leukemia at the age of 26.

And Greg received his umpteenth honor just as quietly and modestly as if it was his first.

The Garey star, who was the San Antonio League's Player of the Year in basketbal and was also named to the first team of the All-CIF cage selection this past season, was the topic of discussion during a dinner in his honor at the Lodge.

On hand to present the fourth annual award to Greg were Garey principal Ted Tynes, Viking basketball coach Mike Wells, school district representative Leo Lewis, Elks Lodge representative Merle Wooten, Russ Stickel Sr., and Pomona Parks and Recreation representative Phil LaPierre.

Ballard, who has already signed a letter of intent to play basketball for the University of Oregon next year, was recently in the news when he was drafted by the Montreal Expos in the 15th round of the spring baseball draft Tuesday.

"Ah, they (the Expos) don't really want me," Ballard said jokingly to Leo Lewis, "do they Leo?"

Mr. Lewis just laughed, turned to me and said, "You know, I've known Greg since he was in the seventh grade. I've watched him grow and have been like a father to him. And during that whole time he has never lied to me — not once."

But this one was only a little one — the Expos really do want Greg to play baseball for them.

Woody Hansen, American Legion Post 30 manager, was also on hand for the presentation and said of Greg, "If we (the Post 30 American Legion team) go far in the playoffs this year, you can bet there will be a lot of scouts watching Greg. I know Kansas City wants him."

Then LaPierre took the stand to give the presentation speech for the award Greg that should be mentioned, it's the fact that he has earned the respect not only from his own peers, but also from the generations above him."

Secretariat seeks Belmont win for T.C.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Secretariat, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness Stakes winner, headed a field of six entered today for Saturday's running of the Belmont Stakes in which the big red colt seeks a sweep of the Triple Crown classics.

Also named for the 1½-mile race, the longest of the spring classics, were Sham and Knightly Dawn, My Gallant, Pvt. Smiles, and Twice A Prince.

Once again Ron Turcotte rides Secretariat, who would become the first horse in 25 years to win the Triple Crown if he's successful on Saturday.

The long-striding son of Bold Ruler was a very strong favorite with Sham once again his principal rival.

Sham, second in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, will be riden by Laffit Pincay and run as an entry with Knightly Dawn, the Jersey Derby winner. Ismael "Milo" Venezuela rides Knightly Dawn, who was entered to insure a "honest pace," according to trainer Frank "Pancho" Martin.

Angel Cordero rides My Gallant with Danny Gargan on Pvt. Smiles and Braulio Baeza on Twice A Prince.

With six starters, the race will be worth a total of $151,200 with $97,200 going to the winner. Second place will be worth $33,264, with $18,144 to third and $9,072 for fourth.

Garagiola gets laughs in cricket

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI) — They laughed when former National League catcher Joe Garagiola strode up to the wicket — and they laughed even louder when he tried to hit the cricket ball out of the stadium.

"Swinging one of those paddle-like cricket bats isn't as easy as it looks," Garagiola admitted, even though he finally belted a few and British players told him he'd had a "fine inning".

Garagiola donned the shin guards used by cricket batters and swung his bat as part of NBC-TV's "Today" show which has been filming in Britain.

Chicago jinx holds true for Sutton, Dodgers

CHICAGO (UPI) — Don Sutton can't understand it, and he's thought about it quite a bit. As a matter of fact, he's sick and tired of being reminded of it.

"I really can't explain my record with the Cubs," said Sutton after Chicago handed him a 6-4 defeat and ran his Wrigley Field record to 1-7. His career record against the Cubs is 3-15.

"I do think I've matured to the point where I don't let the past affect me when I go out to pitch here or anywhere else.

"I can always count on someone asking me about my record with the Cubs when I come here," he said. "About the 1,171st time, the questions start to irritate me. I think I'll put my answers on tape for the next time we come here."

After the Dodgers had taken a 1-0 lead in the first inning, Jose Cardenal homered with Ron Santo aboard in the fifth to make it 2-1. Four straight singles made it 4-1 inn the sixth innning and that was for Sutton, who is now 7-4.

"I had very good stuff today," Sutton said, "But you're going to lose X number of games no matter who you are and how you're throwing."

Cub starter Burt Hooton ran into trouble when Willie Davis opened the ninth inning with his seventh homer. With two out, Ron Cey singled, Von Joshua walked and Lee Lacy singled to make it 6-3.

Bruins defend NCAA track and field championship

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — UCLA opens defense of its NCAA track and field title today but so far defending champions are zero-for-one in the 52nd annual meet.

And if the decathlon is any indication, competition in this year's championship is going to be the closest ever.

Raimo Pihl of Brigham Young became the meet's first individual champion Wednesday night by defeating Fresno State's Roger George in the decathlon by five points—an incredibly close margin for the grueling, two-day, 10-event contest.

In third place came defending champion Ron Evans of Connecticut, who battled on despite a badly pulled hamstring muscle.

Going into the 1,500 meters, the last event on the program, Pihl had compiled 7,206 points to Evans' 7,100 and George's 7,081. Pihl had jumped in front by virtue of the best decathlon javelin throw in the history of the NCAA meet—a heave of 224-5.

George is by far a better distance runner than Pihl but he had to beat Pihl by 18 seconds to make up enough points to become champion. George defeated Pihl by 17 seconds, 4:15.0 to 4:32.0, with both runners turning in the best performances of their career.

That left Pihl with 7,782 points to George's 7,777. Both surpassed Evans' meet record of 7,571 set last year and even Evans broke his own mark in finishing third with 7,574. Craig Brigham of Oregon finished fourth with 7,527 and in fifth was Eugene Miller of Ohio University with 7,453.

UCLA, despite the injury-caused absence of high jumper Rick Fletcher and a pulled hamstring muscle by triple jumper Harry Freeman, is expected to capture its third straight NCAA crown for coach Jim Bush.

One veteran track coach came up with a forecast of 59 points for the Bruins and 50 for Southern California, which has been runnerup to UCLA the past two years and a team that has won 25 NCAA championships.

The dual highlights of the day should come with the appearances of Dave Wottle in the mile run semifinals and Steve Prefontaine in the semifinals of the three-mile.

Wottle, the Olympic 800-meter gold medal winner from Bowling Green, is the heavy favorite to take the mile title while Prefontaine, of Oregon, will be trying for his fourth straight NCAA three-mile championship.

Other defending champions in action during today's round of qualifying will be USC's Randy Williams in the long jump and Jerry Wilson in the 120-yard hurdles, Purdue's Larry Burton in the 220-yard dash and Rice's Dave Roberts in the pole vault.

No finals will be held today while Friday finals will be held in the long jump, hammer throw, shot put, 120-yard hurdles, 100-yard dash and the six-mile run. The meet will end Saturday with 14 more finals being run off before a national television audience.

Top La Verne, 3-0

Kings break winless streak

By CURT WEBSTER
P-B STAFF Writer

LA VERNE — Pomona's Connie Mack Kings, who have been struggling with all phases of their game the past couple of weeks, didn't show any signs of offensive improvement Wednesday afternoon.

But with the kind of pitching and defense the Kings displayed, coach Hook Miller isn't complaining.

A trio of Pomona pitchers limited La Verne to five hits in shutting out Post 330, 3-0, for the Kings' first victory in six games.

Pomona parlayed two first inning hits with a pair of untimely La Verne errors for the three runs that were to account for the sum of the scoring.

Kings' second baseman Larry Brown singled down the left field line leading the game off against La Verne starter Jim Vallone. One out later, Ray Pekarcik slammed a ground rule double into right field.

Pitcher Larry Pekarcik grounded a ball that shortstop Al Acosta bobbled for an error, allowing Brown to score. Dave Stanton walked to load the bases, and Louie Caudillo grounded one past second baseman Steve Barnard for a two-base error to allow the Pekaarcika to score. Acosta redeemed his error with a diving stop on Terry Huggins' line drive that led to a double play.

Pekarcik pitched the first three innings and gave three of the La Verne hits, including Harold Drake's double. Dave Stanton picked up for him in the fourth, and lasted until the sixth when Russ Bohse came on to finish the game up.

The kings mounted one more substantial threat in the third, when, the bases loaded! Caudillo hit a long fly that Steve Hines gloved and then fired to third to catch Ray Pekarcik for a double play.

A costa led off the bottom of the seventh with a single, but was stranded at first as Bohse retired the last three batters in order.

The Kings hope to keep their winning ways intact Friday when they travel to Bassett. La Verne will face Charter Oak this afternoon.

San Dimas parlays mistakes into 7-3 win

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

SAN DIMAS — San Dimas parlayed five errors and two wild pitches into a 7-3 win over Pomona National to improve its Big League record to 7-2.

The win enabled Al Thomas' club to keep a game back of league leading Diamond Bar 8-1 who was an 8-3 victor over Ted Greene.

Ray Martinez upped his pitching record to 3-1 with a seven-hit performance and lost his bid for a shutout in the last inning when Dan Hess blasted a three-run homer to left-centerfield. Martinez helped his own cause with a triple down the left field line and scored on a wild pitch.

San Dimas struck for a run in the opening frame when Jerry Levereau singled and advanced to second on a throwing error by left fielder Gary Ketchum. Levereau stole third and came home when catcher Dave Zibell threw the ball into left field. San Dimas added three runs in the third on only one base hit. Tim Brown tripled and Martinez followed with a walk. Rich Espinoza's scoring fly ball plated Brown. Martinez then stole second and third and came home on another throwing error by Zibell. Dave Maloof drew a walk, stole second, advanced to third on a pass ball and scored on Norm Butler's ground out.

The final run scored when Mike Kendrick walked and moved to third on a hit-and-run single by John Brahs. Levereau then hit a slow bounding ball to second that was booted momentarily allowing Kencrick to score.

Levereau ended the afternoon on going two-for-four with an RBI and two stolen bases.

Lance Smith's ball club equalled San Dimas' hit output, each side with seven safeties, but Pomona National lacked the key hits. Rick Koppleman and Keith Glover each had two-for-three hitting performances. Glover suffered the defeat lowering his won-loss record to 13.

All Big League clubs will be idle for a week because of high school baccalurate and graduation program.

D.B. protects lead

Clutch effort downs Greene

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Correspondent

POMONA — Timely hitting and steady pitching led Diamond Bar to a 8-3 victory over Ted Greene here Wednesday at Ralph Welch Park. With the win Diamond Bar protected its first place standing in Big League action.

After a scoreless first frame, Diamond Bar ripped Ted Greene starter Chuck Mitchell for four tallies in the second. Winning hurler Ken Czarnecki got home two of the runs with a looping single to center, while Bill Karr's long triple plated Czarnecki. Dead Sickles then followed with a line single to drive home Karr and complete the rally.

Ted Greene looked like it might challange for the lead, as the Elks put together three singles for a third inning run. John Wiemann, Dave Compton, and Doug Seiner had the basehits, with Seiner picking up the RBI. Czarnecki shut the door in a hurry, retiring the next two batters to end the inning.

Diamond Bar continued to hit the ball crisply, as they plated three more runs in the fourth at the expense of reliver Stacy Baird. Baird added to his woes by walking three batters in the inning, two of which resulted in scores. Tracy Cowger cracked a single good for two RBI's and Bill Fleming's fielder's choice allowed Cowger to score.

Pitching with a big 7-1 margin, Czarnecki retired Ted Greene in order in the fourth and fifth inning. The Elks finally broke through to the run column again in the sixth, touching up Czarnecki for two tallies. Chuck Watson and Greg Hope picked up run-producing singles in the frame, but Cznarnecki beared down to fan two Elks batters and end the inning.

Czarnecki picked up an insurance run for himself in the top of the seventh, tripling to center field to bring in Fleming and push the score to 8-3. Czarnecki finished the contest with three RBI's in addition to his route-going victory.

Ted Greene picked up two singles in the bottom of the seventh, but to more strikeouts by Czarnecki clinched the win for Diamond Bar. Czarnecki finished with 6 K's while walking only one over the seven-inning route. Diamond Bar now holds a 8-1 Big League mark, good enough for first place.

Hosack peps Americans to win

POMONA — Tom Hosack spearheaded a Pomona American attack to a 5-2 win over Pomona SW-NW.

The win kept the Americans securely in third place in the Big League standings with a 6-2-1 record. SW-NW dropped its mark to 1-8.

Hosack went two-for-three, drove in a pair of runs, and scored another. He doubled in the teams fourth inning run, and singled home Mendez who reached base on a triple. Chuck Gallagar picked up the complete game win and contributed an RBI single while Doug Broyles drove in the other run.

Ray Perez, who went three-for-four with one ribbie and a run scored, drove in the third inning run and scored the teams seventh inning tally. With two out, Perez singled, advanced to second on a pass ball and scored on an error.

Cardinals smash Covina, 10-3, to stay unbeaten

CLAREMONT — Claremont's Connie Mack Cardinals kept their perfect record in the San Gabriel Valley League intact Wednesday afternoon, as they downed Covina, 10-3, behind the five-hit pitching of Harry Brown.

A four-run outburts in the third broke a scoreless tie and sent the Cardinals into the lead to stay. Pete Winberger walked but was thrown out on Brown's sacrifice attempt. Todd Ervin and Mark Robertson followed with singles. Kent Stallwick and Jim Ayers walked, to force a run over, and Tony Janusz drove two home with a single.

The Cardinals' fourth straight victory overall gives them a 3-0 league record, which they will put on the line Saturday at 2 p.m against City of Industry at Pomona College.

Chino National notches 11th win

CHINO — Chino National continued on the tear it has been on since baseball season opened by topping Upland Foothill, 4-3, in Inland Big League action Wednesday.

John Iverson walked and scored on Mike Stubblefield's grounder and Robbie Drafton singled in Paul Pimentel and Stubblefield to give Chino three runs in the first.

Alan Armandariz singled Drafton home for Chino's single run in the fourth.

Claremont seeks football players

CLAREMONT Boys, ages 9-15, residing in Claremont, La Verne and north Pomona are invited to sign-up for the Claremont Junior All-American Football program from 7 to 11 a.m. Saturday at the Claremont American Little League pancake breakfast at College Park.

Montclair tops Tri-City on Price's 3-bagger

ALTA LOMA — Montclair Post kept its hopes alive in the District 25 race Wednesday with a 3-2 win over Tri-City in nine innings.

Tim Price tripled in Mike Pittman in the top of the ninth after Pittman had doubled earlier.

Bruce Richardson's six strikeout performance was good enough for his fourth victory of the season. He and his opposite number, Pat Alexander went the complete game, Alexander striking out nine.

Montclair scored twice in the sixth. Pat Proulx got on base on an error. Mike Wolters singled, and Pittman walked to load the bases. Dale Biggs hit a ground ball which the second baseman elected to chase Pittman with, allowing Proulx and Wolters to score.

Montz stars in La Verne Little League

LA VERNE — The Cardinals and Dodgers have taken the early lead in the second half of the La Verne Little League season with 2-0 records.

Bobby Montz of the Cards hit a three-run homer to lead his team to a 9-6 win over the White Sox while Ron Wealand pitched three innings of no-hit ball in relief.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers beat the Angels, 11-5, on winning pitcher Greg Ledesma's home run and downed the White Sox, 5-2, on Russ Ramirez' pitching.

Louie Beltran of the Yankees pitched five innings of perfect baseball to beat the Athletics, 6-1. Angels' pitcher Vince Jamison hit a two-run homer to help his own cause in a 10-3 win over the Yankees. Dave Hyatt hit two doubles for the Angels while Greg Lopez did the same for the Yanks.

Chaffey A.C. takes 1st in valley swim meet

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — Chaffey Aquatics grabbed first place last weekend in the Intervalley Swimming Finals here.

Leading the locals were Mike Grabowski in the 9-10-year-old age group events. Grabowski garnered six firsts and captured pool records in each.

Stephanie Sauter won five events in record time in the 7-8-year old division, while Diane Weber came through with four firsts and four records in the 11-12-year old age group.

Steve Slagle had three victories and three records in the 11-12-year old division and Dan Davis had two victories and one record in the 13-14-year old age group.

Single victories were picked up by Jim Moore and Linda Salvati in record time in the 13-14-year-old division.

Track club sets meeting

There will be an organizational meeting of the Southern California Track Club here tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room of the Pomona Police Department.

Persons from throughout Southern California are invited to attend. Methods of supporting the club's program will be discussed. The club currently has three men entered in the AAU Track and Field Championships next weekend.

Clean sweep for Cheetahs

IRVINE — The Southern California Cheetahs made it a clean sweep in the District Track Championships over the weekend.

The Cheetahs took home two first place team trophies Saturday at UC Irvine, and then grabbed another one Sunday at UC Santa Barbara.

In the 10-11 age group Saturday, the Cheetahs claimed three first-place finishes in winning the first place honor.

Debbie Kranz captured first place in the 440 yard run in a time of 64.0 seconds, and then turned around and took another first in the 220 yard run with a 27.8 clocking.

Shelly Waters ran her lifetime best in the mile run to win first place in 5:18.8 minutes. The Cheetah's 440 relay team gave the team its fourth first place in the age group.

In the 12-13 age division, Pam Greene took a first place in the 440 yard run in 59.0 seconds, her lifetime best. The only other first place finishes for the Cheetahs in that age category came in the 440 relay in a lifetime best of 51.9 seconds, and in the 880 relay with a 1:55.6 clocking.

The Cheetahs recorded five first-place finishes in the 14-15 age group to win the team trophy.

Mary Lee Erickson doubled in the 100 meter hurdles and the 300 meter hurdles, winning both with lifetime bests of 15.5 seconds and 47.2 seconds, respectively.

Diane Fleetwood grabbed a first place in the 100 yard run with a time of 11.3 seconds, and Sofie Rivera followed by copping the two-mile run in 11:27.6 minutes — her lifetime best.

Adding to all the first place finishes, the Cheetahs' 440 relay ran off with the winning honors in a time of 50.2 seconds.

But the big performance came from the two-mile relay team of Monique Gregoire, Valerie Preston, Sofie Rivera and Becky Wolfinbarger, who set a national record in a time of 9:58.4 minutes.

The Cheetahs took a second in the mile relay and thirds in the 880 relay and two-mile relay.

This week the Cheetahs will be competing in San Diego for the State Championships.

Chino ends first round

CHINO — The first round of the Chino National Little League ended this week with a bid for a shutout and an extra inning game.

A bid for a shutout by Ronnie Lopez of F & C Hawkeye was spoiled by Burger Bandit in the sixth inning but F & C won anyway, 9-1.

Gringo Bob's broke a 5-5 tie in the eighth inning for a 6-5 win over F & C.

Jim DiMieo hit his third home run of the season to help Brown Moving beat O. K. Meat with pitcher Gary Brown picking up the victory.

Home runs fail to produce win

MONTCLAIR — J & J Tire defeated W. R. Company, 10-9, in spite of home runs by Eldredge Armstrong, Ken Clark and Russ Shory of W. R. Company.

Pacific Rock is sailing along with a 10-0 record after defeating Turner Tractor, 4-0; J & J Tire, 10-0, and W. R. Co., 8-1.

To have your league standings printed in the P-B, just submit them to the sports department by 1 p.m. Thursday.
All leagues in the P-B circulation area are invited to send in their results.
Because of the space requirements, the P-B won't print minor divisions of Little Leagues.

Andrejewski hurls second no-hit gem

POMONA — John Andrejewski of Conley's Hardware picked up his fourth victory in the Pomona American Little League Senior Division by hurling his second no-hitter in a 9-1 win over Valley Glass.

He also has an one-hitter and two-hitter to his credit.

Besides his pitching feats, Andrejewski also hit a three-run homer. In 25 2-3 innings, he has struck out 33 batters.

However, not all is happiness in Andrejewski's summer. His catcher, Bill Imbriani, suffered a broken angle in the game.

Optimists built its lead in the Pomona National Little League Senior Division by defeating Datsun Motors, 4-2, and Reis Refrigeration, 4-1. Chris Andrews pitched a three-hitter over Reis while Mark Reynolds drove in the winning run. Bob Naverrette was the hero as a relief pitcher against Datsun.

Craig Lawson doubled and Randy Olivieri singled to give Reis a 2-2 tie against the Elks. Olivieri then scored on a wild pitch to win the game. Bill Long didn't allow a hit in a 2 1-3 innings of relief work for Carl's Jr. in a 7-4 win over Datsun. Rusty Halligan of the Elks pitched an one-hitter and struck out 14 batters in a 3-1 win over Western Hills.

Lee McCollum of first-place Clark Brothers hit a home run to lead his team to an 8-2 win over Catron Motors in the Ted Greene Little League. Allen Gugino of Pomona First Federal hit a home run to beat the Lions, 9-3. United California Bank, down 12-3 in the third inniing, rallied to stun the Lions, 16-13.

Leonard Strong's two-run double gave Emblem Club a 2-1 win over Credit Union in the Pomona American Little League. It was the fourth straight win for Emblem Club. Jim Gutierrez's doubled was the key blow for Credit Union over CUNA Mutual, 6-4. Robert Sanchez' two-out single gave Park Avenue Hospital a 7-6 win over Brinderson in seven innings.

In a stunner in the Pomona Southwest Little League, the Pomona Police Cardinals shocked the first-place Meat Cutter Local 439 Dodgers, 7-2, on home runs by Robert Leatherwood, his sixth, and Avelino Sanchez, his third. Nat Harris homered for the Dodgers. However, the Dodgers bounced back to drill the Twins, 19-9, with a 13-run third inning.

Bunnell Chevrolet had 15 hits, including 10 doubles, in a 10-4 win over McDonald's in the Pomona National Litttle League. Tony Magub hit a home run and drove in four runs to help Mautz beat Pomona Police Association, 10-4. Vic Wright of Gemco also homered during the week.

Claremont teams start strong in Colt League

CLAREMONT — Claremont teams have started strong in Colt League action.

Kurt Kutyla of the Angels blanked the Chino Roadrunners, 7-0, and hit a three-run homer. The Giants blitzed Montclair II, 21-3, on Bob DeBolt's three-hitter. Mel Pompa of the Dodgers pitched a no-hitter in downing the Chino Falcons, 11-4. Catcher Scott Davis drove in five runs with three hits and Brad Kirkendall hit a triple.

Dave Aguilera of the Dodgers and Peter Weinberger of the Giants both hit triples in a wild 9-9 deadlock. The game will be played off later.

In the Claremont Pony League, the Cubs handed the Giants their first loss of the season, 6-3, behind the four-hit pitching of Leonard Peacock. Jim Todd's bases-loaded triple was the big hit.

Bryan Morrison won his third game for the Yankees by beating the Mets, 4-3. Mike Davis of the Angels stopped the Cardinals, 10-1. Paul Sokolowski pitched the Giants past the Yankees, 8-4, and helped his own cause with a triple while John Jenal drove in Jeff Johnson with the winning run.

Mark Layne of the Cardinals beat the Cubs, 7-2, while Tim Dooling earned the win for the Angels over the Mets, 12-5.

Larry Seligman drove in five runs with four hits to spark the Cardinals past the Dodgers 19-6, in the Claremont Pinto League. Winning pitcher Bob Baltierra struck out 11 batters and Dave Bosson drove in three runs to give the undefeated Giants a 6-2 win over the Dodgers. The Wildcats' Mark Speer won his fourth game in edging the Yankees, 7-6.

John and Jim Hernandez shared shutout honors for the Red Sox over Grazziano's Pizza, 18-0, in the Claremont American Little League. James Hood drove in five runs while hitting a home run. Winning pitcher Doug Tokeshi struck out 13 batters and hit a double for Wolfe's Market over Cullen Air Service, 13-6.

Craig Ackerman pitched Wolfe's past the Red Sox, 3-1, and hit a double. Jim Hermandez homered for the Red Sox. Danny Layne was two-for-three at the plate and was the winning pitcher for the Yankees over Cullen Air Service, 7-4. Pat Cullen hit two homers for the losers.

The House of Tools Cardinals stunned the Coates Bicycle Phillies, 3-0, in the Claremont National Little League as winning pitcher Pat Naish struck out eight batters. Jason Powers hit a double for the Cards.

The Sportsman Pirates knocked off the Bank of California Giants, 6-2, on Steve Tipping's pitching.

Auditions scheduled at Fullerton

FULLERTON — Public auditions for Cal State Fullerton's ninth annual summer theater season will be held in the campus Little Theater on Monday night at 7.

The productions featured this summer are two musicals and a children's theater workshop. "The Boyfriend" will be produced in June with performances thte last week of the month. A musical version of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" will be produced in July with performances on the third weekend. Also scheduled for that period is "The Bell," a children's theater production.

As in past years, two workshops will produce the plays with each session carrying a maximum enrollment of 30. Each carries three units of university credit and students may enroll for either or both. The first will run from Monday to June 29 and the second from July 2-20.

COMEDY PAIR — Mike Jablonski and Cindi Musser pose in a scene from the Gallery Theater's production of Leonard Gershe's comedy "Butterflies Are Free." "Butterflies" is playing now and for the next four weekends at the C and Lemon streets theater, Ontario. "Fiddler on the Roof" opens on June 28 for a limited run. For reservations, information and group rates persons may call 982-5357.

Informed reason

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Drug Abuse Council went into business just one year ago "to serve as a voice of informed reason on a national problem exacerbated by myths, fears and desperate solutions," the Ford Foundation reports in its newsletter.

Established by four foundations, the council recently received $399,364 more from the Ford Foundation for the coming six months. The council spents its first year building up a bank or reliable information on drug abuse and trying to improve the lines of communication among the hundreds of organizations in the field.

'Serenata Ranchera' now at Padua Hills

CLAREMONT — "Serenata Ranchera," a folk play featuring the music of northern states of Mexico, will be presented at Padua Hills Theater through July 21.

The two-act production features the music and dances of the ranchers and sheepherders of the northern Mexican province of Durango and its neighbor states with a simple story about a young senorita who spurns a wealthy landowner to marry the young shepherd she loves.

After each performance, the audience is invited to join the Mexican Players in an outdoor fiesta called "Jamaica." This summertime event is held under the olive trees on the theater grounds in a setting similar to many areas of Mexico.

"Serenata Ranchera" is presented at 8:30 p.m. Wednesdays through Saturdays with matinees at 2:30 on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Ticket information and reservations are available at the theater office 626-1288 and at mutual agencies.

Do women seek fat pal as ego support?

Dear Ele: I am very overweight and not attractive at all. I realize and accept these defects because the rest of my family is just the same. What concerns me is that several attractive, slim, popular women regularly seek out my company. It seems like they want to be my friend, but I am suspicious.

Maybe they want me around to make them look even more beautiful in comparison, or maybe they feel more relaxed in my company because they know I'll never be any competition for them. These suspicions may be unfair. Can you suggest a test I could make to find out?—227

Dear 227: You're right to be suspicious of your suspicions. Often a person who has been born beautiful takes it as a matter of small import. Not considering looks a big deal, she may be much concerned about her friend's personality and heart than are people who are less secure about their appearance.

Ask yourself if these women ever indulge in mean jokes at your expense, desert you when an attractive guy appears on the scene, or turn a deaf ear when you try to share your own adventures or thoughts.

If you chalk up two or three "no's" to that trio of questions, I'd say the women genuinely value your company. If that's the verdict, it's time to examine your motives for being with them. Specifically, do you focus on their minds and hearts as well as their spectacular packaging?

Incidentally I'd urge you to see a competent doctor. Before settling for a "fat family fat me" destiny. Being grossly overweight taxes the heart and bars you from doezens of enriching activities. You may find that an MD is your key to more healthy proportions.—Ele

Dear Walt: I'd like to go back to school in the fall, but I am afraid of what people would say because I swore when I left that I'd never return. My friends are pretty sarcastic.—Moss

Dear Moss: I suggest you see a counselor at school and discover what can be done to customize your curriculum so that you've greater chances for scholastic success. If you could point out to friends that the school had compromised in letting you substitute courses or pick instructors, you'd have the base to forecast a whole new ball game.

If you can't face their jibes about regular school, how about the night-school scene? With some dollars-and-cents figures from the counselor to contrast earnings of dropouts vs. high-school grads, you will have sound rationale for your study.—Walt

Dear Ele and Walt: What is the etiquette about paying for dinner when you are going out "Dutch treat" with a boy? Do you still have to slip him the money? Or have things become more open?—Fern

Dear Fern: This isn't cut and dried. So discuss it in advance with any male "Dutch treat" companion. We'd hope he was secure enough not to blush at open payment. Maybe he'd feel easier if you told the waitress at the time she took your order, "Separate checks, please, tonight's the night we go "Dutch."

You could say that far better than he could, since it has the ring in your mouth of taking on a responsibility rather than shirking it off.—Ele and Walt

Back, chest pains possibly digestive

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Can you help me? For four years now I have gone to several doctors and even had X rays for my problem. They either say I'm too young for my symptoms, or they don't know what it is that's wrong. And the last one said he thought I was out of my mind.

For the past four years I have had severe chest pains. My age is 22 and I have had four children. I have been awakened with my chest aching. It felt like it was being crushed and I had a hard time breathing. It seemed to start down in my back and work its way up into my chest and ache clear into my back. The pain is so severe that I sometimes had to get a shot for pain. The longest it has lasted is about five hours.

I also have trouble in swallowing my food. I take small bites and chew it up as well as possible, it feels like sandpaper going down. The pain is located where my ribs come together. I have also had X rays for this. I drank some chalky fluid and the doctor said he found nothing. This started about four years ago too. I have a lot of trouble with gas and acid. Doctor, I just don't think I can go through this much longer. I hope and pray you can help me. Thank you.

Dear Reader — Every chest pain is not a sign of heart disease. From your symptoms alone I would be inclined to think that you do not have heart disease at your age.

Heart pain does not cause pain in the back and it is not associated with difficulty in swallowing. More likely you are having spasms of your digestive tract, including the esophagus. This can cause severe chest pain mimicking the pain of a heart attack. Muscles in the esophagus tube clamp down and act like a muscle cramp.

You have a history of lot of digestive disturbances and since you've already had X rays, I would presume that you don't have any major obstruction. Anyone who has difficulty in swallowing certain must have a complete medical examination. Having done that, the best advice I can give you is to change your diet completely. Eliminate all milk and all milk products, including cheeee, buttermilk or any foods that are made from milk, coffee, caffeinated or decaffeinated, tea, do not smoke, eliminate all alcoholic beverages if you use them, try to eat a diet made of very lean meat, such as baked chicken, broiled lean beef or broiled fish. Avoid excess use of breads. You can use some Jello, avoid spicy foods, and if you respond well to this procedure, later on you can add more cereals to your diet.

If this regimen helps you a great deal I would suspect that you might have interolance to some of these foods and you'll have to be careful about which ones you use. High on the list of aggravating factors in your case may well be milk, milk products and coffee. I feel fairly confident that your problem is not heart disease and that most of it orginates with difficulties in your digestive tract.

Stress and tension many also be an important factor. Try to minimize the amount of daily stress you have.

Wallace: if I run, I'll beat anyone

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace is leaning toward running for reelection in Alabama next year, but his course in the 1976 presidential years "remains to be seen."

The wheelchair-bound Wallace, conducting a news conference Tuesday at the National Governors Conference, said if he did decide to run, "I'll be healthy enough to beat anyone who runs against me."

As he has before, Wallace declined to comment on the Watergate scandal, saying he wanted to wait until all investigations were complete. But he specifically disassociated himself from the demand of Wisconsin Gov. Patrick J. Lucey here that President Nixon resign to restore the prestige of the presidency.

Wallace did say Nixon's "popularity has been hurt by the Watergate." He said his own prescription to restore public confidence in government officials is "being perfectly frank and honest about many things that have been kept secret."

FRIDAY, JUNE 8

Your birthday today: To confirm beliefs and consolidate your holdings becomes your major campaign for this coming year of striving. Today's natives are energetic, willing to improvise novel work methods.

Aries (March 21- April 19): Accept the fact that there's more work than you can complete on time, and that nobody is able to pitch in.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Cross-purposes are the rule of the day—leave your checkbook home, likewise credit cards.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Endless rounds of discussion get nowhere but serve to slow your progress. Concentrate on your own affairs. Select simple goals.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): A tendency to take on more than you can handle characterizes your behavior today. Careful planning is important.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Yesterday's challenges continue, escalate. If you must make changes, put your attention to being thoro and complete.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Extravagance is more related to emotional factors than to financial outlay. Tidy up your workweek.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct 22): Relent discrepancies begin to adjust. You learn the key to current puzzles late today but it can't be used immediately.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Pull back from the center of attention; regroup and plan a fresh approach. Serious ideas jell in later hours.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Shortcuts and vivid ideas backfire. You never appreciate some factors until you learn by your own experience.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Haste in most matters is apt to precipitate difficulty. Being irritated by others' behavior should be beneath your dignity.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): No amount of extra travel will bring projects closer to perfection. Tend to nearby chores. Temper control is important right now.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Discretion carries your day. Be explicit, volunteer no side issues which might confuse matters. Family and associates are restless.
